U. R. Defers Peace Disturbance Charge Against Man Who Wouldn't Pay It.

After receiving advice from the City Law Department yesterday, the police place a peace disturbance charge against Charles H. Fensfeldt of 2329 University street, who was arrested because he refused to pay more than 10 cents fare on a Belt-Fourteenth street car, although an increase to 15 cents became effective yesterday. The case came up before Police Judge Roseman today, but was continued till Feb. 13, at the request of a United Railways attorney.

Fensfeldt said he wouldn't make the company any trouble over his arrest, but would demand a full refund. His attorney, J. H. Sawyer, said the charge against Fensfeldt would not be pressed because he is 66 years old.

His refusal was a matter of principle, since he thinks the old rate of 7 cents high enough. Fensfeld explained, and the men placed in the cell by Police Hightower, waiting to seek bond. Victor Packman and Jesse Bishop, attorneys who recently took a test case involving the right of selling or giving away a car and a house to the State Supreme Court, read of his arrest and volunteered their services. Fensfeld permitted them to arrange his release on $200 bond.

It was not until 10 o'clock that he understood what he might have done to disturb anybody's peace. Packman, who was fined in Police Court for giving a transfer to Bishop as a bribe, was surprised that Fensfeld and the latter expressed mutual sympathy for Packman.

Divisional Judge Grodzki in the Court of Criminal Correction to see him, when he was found guilty of murdering his aged mother. Freeberrys was charged with assaulting his mother, with whom he lives at 14 North Fourteenth street, and appeared against him in court, heavily swathed in bandages.

"Why did you beat up your mother?" Judge Grodzki asked the defendant. "If I did it I must have been drunk," Freeberrys answered. "I'm sorry that I can't pay the $100 fine for the last month and $100 is the limit I can pay you on this charge," Judge Grodzki said, "but there will be no parole."

on bonds during this period, and bondsmen continued to represent a host of merchants and customers who they had just come posthaste from the Judge's home.

A bond of $1000 bearing what purported to be Judge Ittner's signature freed Fred Farhen, accused of attempted murder, on Aug. 21 by Harry Lohmann, bondsman. Three bondsmen charged with violating the prohibition law, got out the same day on a bond of $500. Martha D. Lohmann, being the bondsman. The next day, Sept. 1, eight defendants got out on three bonds supposedly bearing Judge Ittner's signature, and all signed by Henry Weber, bondsman.

Quoting From the Freeman.

From the Missouri Freeman: "Most of the St. Louis visitors spent the night at the hotel, but the Grand Master found room in his room for M. W. Frank, R. W. Jesse, P. G. M., R. W. Bro., Anthony F. Ittner, Grand Senior Warden, and R. W. Bro. Gough. Brothers, despite the late hour of returning, arose at 4 a. m. Wednesday night, without endeavor to hold down on the noise, went out for a swim and swim in the river. He came back in the morning, and as back in ample time for breakfast with appetite in champion form, but at this he played a poor third. R. W. Bro. Ittner, setting away with such an act of negligence and biguities." This happened in Sept. 1.

The fact that Sam Ark, friend of Judge Ittner, was at the Dayton street station with four blank bonds bearing what he said was Judge Ittner's signature at 1:30 p. m. on Aug. 29, when the Judge was 120 miles away, after publication in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, was related to Circuit Judge Landwehr, presiding judge of the St. Louis Circuit Court.

Declares course illegal.

Judge Landwehr concurred in the opinion of a recognized legal authority quoted by the Post-Dispatch, that the act of a Circuit Judge in giving anyone his signature on bonds in advance would be illegal and highly improper. He agreed with the lawyer quoted in the Post-Dispatch that such an act would be an illegal delegation of the judicial function to a private citizen.

"But that is a matter for the Legislature," Judge Landwehr remarked. "The Circuit Judges in general term would have no authority to act. I can speak only for myself. My practice in accepting bonds is to require the offeror and the bondsman to appear before me personally before I sign the bond. I must be sure of the solvability of the offense charged, the amount of bail and the qualifications of the bondsman. It is the Judge's duty to determine in person on all three of these things."

Lon O. Hoeker, chairman of the relevance committee of the Bar Association, said he would look into the matter today.

Among the St. Louis Masons who were with Judge Ittner at the Houston function in Mexico were Frank R. Jesse, Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Missouri, and Willis Garrell, Past Grand Master. Garrell told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he remembered seeing the Judge at Mexico, but did not recall just when. Jesse replied to a similar question: "I have nothing to say. The Judge and Sam Ark and other professional bondsmen concerned mainly in a non-committal attitude."

SLAUGHTERED PATROLMAN BURIED AT MARION; NO TRACE OF LIFE

Masons Officiate at Church and Comrades of American Legion Honor Lory Price at Grave.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., Feb. 8.—With no new clue to the whereabouts of Mrs. Ethel Price, the funeral of her husband, State Highway Patrolman Lory L. Price, was held here today. After Masonic services at the First Baptist Church, Price was buried in Rose Hill cemetery with Masonic and American Legion honors.

The organized search for Mrs. Price's body was abandoned last night after posses had examined the hard road from Marion to Nashville, 75 miles, entering their search in the vicinity of the farm of Joe Waldman, near DuBois, where Price's bullet-riddled body was found Saturday. Both Price and his wife are believed to have been murdered by gangsters in the Shelton-Birger feud after being abducted from their home here the night of Jan. 17.

The inquest begun at Nashville yesterday was continued until Saturday morning. Testimony was given that Price was a friend of Charlie Birger, Harrisburg gang leader and sworn enemy of the other brothers now in Leavenworth penitentiary. State's Attorney House said he hoped that some important information would develop before the inquest is resumed.

Price's thorough examination of Price's body disclosed 18 bullet wounds instead of 13 as originally reported. Authorities believe that Mrs. Price's ultimately was found somewhere in Southern Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 8.—A bill appropriating $2000 in rewards for the apprehension of the slayers of State Highway Patrolman Price and his wife, Ethel, failed of passage today in the House of Representatives here.

The bill, which did not carry an emergency clause, and on motion of James P. Boyle, Chicago, it was referred to the Appropriations Committee for revision. It probably will not come up again until July.

POLICE REOPEN INQUIRY INTO POISONING OF SHELTON'S FRIEND

Florida Authorities Hear of Threat in Connection With Helen Holbrook's Death.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 8.—Reopening of an investigation into the death of Mrs. Helen Holbrook, who died here, was about the towns' two led police today on the trail of what they said appeared to be a liquor ring in Tampa and St. Petersburg directed by the Shelton or Birger gangs of South Florida.

Coroner's jury shortly after Mrs. Holbrook's death returned a verdict that she came to her death as the result of poison self-administered. Mystery was added to the case by the report that a man, whose name was said to have been mentioned in connection with the case, had been warned to keep silent under penalty of death by a man who strangled last night. The name of the man threatened was not disclosed by police, but he was said to have been warned to cease "this talk of murder" by the man who strangled Mrs. Holbrook shortly before her death had written a note to him but he denied knowledge of her.

Helen Holbrook formerly lived in Harrisburg, Ill., the home of Charley Birger. She was a friend of Carl Shelton, now in Leavenworth penitentiary, and also of members of the gang war in the Post-Dispatch. Art Newman, associate of Birger, said Mrs. Holbrook "told Carl Shelton tales" and Birger, in retaliation, slugged her with an automatic when he next met her on the streets of Harrisburg.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Feb. 8.—Princess Tarhata Kiram, former Illinois University student, was willing enough to share her husband, datu Tahil, Moro rebel chief, with his three other wives, but there were limits to her patience. This is the story of the downfall of the datu now hiding in the jungle hunted by troops, as related in dispatches from the island of Sulu or Jolo.

As soon as it became known that Tahil was in rebellion against the Philippine Government, the Sultan of Sulu sent his favorite niece, the Princess Tarhata, to summon her husband, Tahil, to the royal palace for a conference looking toward a peaceful settlement of the difficulties.

Princess Tarhata, arriving at the fort where Tahil had established himself with 500 of his armed followers, found her husband taking a bath and a comely young woman was scrubbing his back. The Princess, seized a pail of bath water and threw it in the face of the accommodating young woman. Then in order to make it clearly understood that she was displeased, she caught up a knife and attacked the datu's trousers which were lying nearby. In a moment they were in shreds. They were the only trousers Tahil had with him. He positively could not attend the conference at the royal palace without trousers, so the negotiations were held up.

The Sultan waited until his royal patience was exhausted then believing Tahil had ignored a command, sent word to the Philippine constabulary to attack.

The constabulary waited for two days until certain the Princess had left the fort, then carried this affront home. Tahil escaped with his fourth wife, but deserted her and she was found wandering on a mountain and taken into custody.

Beardstown Rebuilds Sandbag Bulwarks and High Water Bears Down on Peoria.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Bulwarks of sandbags were placed again today along the course of the Illinois River.

At Beardstown, which was completely under water for several weeks in the fall, merchants and townspeople again were called to serve in volunteer patrols as water began to rise in basements. The crest of the high water has passed Peru and La Salle today and is bearing down on Peoria. The river rose an inch an hour for a time last night.

Hundreds of acres have been inundated along the stream's course in the north central part of the State, and transportation is handicapped. One death was reported from Ottawa, where an 11-year-old boy was drowned in a ravine filled by overflow waters.

He has no connection with that company, which is a corporation of which John L. Randazzo is the head is located at 3426 Lindell boulevard. The report also was in error in saying that John L. Randazzo's permit to carry a pistol had expired two years ago. The records show that his license to carry the weapon was renewed last Jan. 14 by the Police Board.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR LOANS
BY U. S. ON SOLDIERS' BONUS

Green Measure Provides for $25,-000,000 Advance by Treasury to Veterans' Bureau.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Half a million former service men, who hold Government life insurance policies, stand to benefit by final passage of the Green bonus loan bill, although its primary purpose is to facilitate borrowing on adjusted compensation certificates. The bill was passed by the House yesterday.

Under the bill, interest profits made on the compensation certificate loans would go to a fund set up to retire the Government's life insurance policies, which, it is intended, will be reflected with lower insurance premiums through dividend declarations.

The Green bill authorizes the Veterans' Bureau to make loans on bonus certificates at 2 per cent interest, in excess of the current Federal Reserve discount rate, which means that the normal rate to loan seekers would be approximately 6 per cent.

To make these loans, the Treasury would advance $25,000,000 to the Veterans' Bureau, the bureau giving as security an equal amount of bonds it holds to redeem insurance converted from war risk policies. The Treasury would be authorized to charge the Veterans' Bureau 4 per cent interest.

AMOS SEAMAN REAPPOINTED

Circuit Judges, at a meeting of general term yesterday, reappointed Amos L. Seaman as chief clerk of the Board of Jury Supervisors, a position he has held 16 years. The reappointment is for a term of four years, with a salary of $3600 a year. The board, composed of all members of the Circuit bench, has charge of selecting the jurors who serve in the Circuit Court and Court of Criminal Correction.

Club Women Demand That
Henry Flury Be Fired for New Remarks.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Henry Flury, instructor of biology in a local high school, whom Major-General Amos A. Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, sought to have discharged because of his definition of Socialism, is again in danger of losing his job. This time his alleged offense is offering in support of a resolution to the Washington
Secular League, a discussion group, demanding that the Navy Department cease letting "alleged patriotic societies" use the Government-supported radio station
NAA, for broadcasting propaganda for a larger army and navy.

A similar demand was made on the Senate floor by Senator Dill (Dem.) of Washington, and since then Secretary of the Navy Will-bur has ordered that all propaganda talks over NAA be discontinued.

The District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, which represents 22 local clubs with a membership of 6000, is Flury's new antagonist. The Federation by unanimous vote recently adopted a resolution against Flury and a copy was sent to the Board of Education and the District Commissioners.

Action by D. A. R. Expected.

This week the Daughters of the American Revolution will have a conference in Washington. Flury said today that he had reason to believe that some of the local Daughters, who also are members of the Federation, would ask the conference to pass a resolution condemning him. He gave as one of his reasons the fact that the resolution he introduced at the Secular League stated that NAA was being used by "alleged patriotic societies."

The text of his resolution follows:

"Whereas, from all accounts it appears that the United States
Naval Radio Station, NAA, is being used for propaganda for a larger army and navy by alleged patriotic societies; and

"Whereas, the taxes of all the people, a large and increasing percentage of which is being used on this matter, properly subject to legislative action, support the station;

"So it is hereby resolved by the audience assembled in the Secular League that we demand that this abuse of Government property should cease at once."

Board Tables Request.

The resolution adopted by the Federation of Women's Clubs requested that Flury be ousted as a teacher because of his "utterances" at the meeting.

The School Board has not acted upon the request. At its meeting last week the board decided to lay it on the table.

U. R. Defers Peace Disturbance Charge Against Man Who Wouldn't Pay It.

After receiving advice from the City Law Department yesterday, the police place a peace disturbance charge against Charles H. Fesenfeld, of 2329 University street, who was arrested because he refused to pay more than 8 cents fare on a Belt-Fourteenth street car, although an increase to 8 cents became effective yesterday. The case came up before Police Judge Rosenbaum today, but was continued till Feb. 19, at the request of a United Railways attorney.

Fesenfeld said he would make the company any trouble over his arrest but would demand a public apology. The company lawyer said the charge against Fesenfeld would not be pressed because he is 66 years old.

His refusal was a matter of principle, since he thinks the old rate of 7 cents high enough, Fesenfeld explained, and he was placed in a cell at Police Headquarters, refusing to seek bond. Victor Packman and Jesse Bishop, attorneys who were right of selling or giving away a trolley transfer to the State Supreme Court, read of his arrest and volunteered their services. Fesenfeld permitted them to arrange his release on $200 bond.

Fesenfeld was at a loss to understand what he might have done to disturb anyone's peace. Packman, who was fined in Police Court yesterday, took a test case involving the right of selling or giving away a trolley transfer to the State Supreme Court, and the latter expressed mutual sympathy for Packman.

REORGANIZERS OF U. R. ANSWERED BY CITY COUNSELOR

Muench Takes Exception to Implication Administration Is Delaying Action on Franchises.

SAYS NEW COMPANY HAS FAILED TO ACT

Cites Draft of Service-at-Cost Plan and Failure to Agree on Rate of Return.

An advertisement inserted in yesterday's newspapers by the St. Louis Public Service Co., formed to bring the United Railways out of receivership and thereafter to operate it, has been construed by City Counselor Muench as criticizing the city administration in two particulars and in a prepared statement, he takes vigorous exceptions.

One exception is to the implication that failure of agreement between the company and the city administration upon some form of a service-at-cost franchise for the new company has been due to lack of co-operation on the part of city officials. To this Muench replies in part as follows: "After numerous conferences, a tentative draft of a service-at-cost franchise was completed and agreed to last year, with the exception of the rate of return, the representatives of the Public Service Co. insisting that the rate should be 7 per cent on the agreed valuation, and the representatives of the City insisting that a rate of 6 per cent would be sufficient when compared with the rate of return in other cities under similar franchises.

Rates in Other Cities. The rates of return in Pittsburgh, Boston, Montreal, Cleveland and Chicago, on over $400,000,000 of property average about 5.9 per cent. Under the circumstances, the City's representatives have not felt like recommending that the City contract for, and assure the company a return 1 per cent higher than that in any other comparable city, which in St. Louis would have meant over $500,000 per year extra from the car-riders.

No agreement was reached as to the property value to be included in the service-at-cost franchise. The company has contended that the Public Service Commission valuation of 1919 should be increased by certain additional investments to approximately $58,000,000. The commission's valuation contains an arbitrary allowance of 50 per cent, nearly $20,000,000, for increased prices above actual cost, which must be given consideration in arriving at the value to be used in a service-at-cost franchise, extending over a long period of years.

The only body which can grant a franchise under the City Charter is the Board of Aldermen, or the voters by initiative. No action has been taken, so far as I know, by the St. Louis Public Service Co., either to introduce an ordinance of the kind it wants in the Board of Aldermen, or to submit it for an initiative vote. There is no reason why the company should not do what the advocates of the bridge exchange ordinance are doing. Have the measure introduced and submit it to a full discussion, in the course of which the Board of Aldermen and the citizens of St. Louis will be fully advised of all arguments pro and con.

U. R. Charge Answered. The railroads charged that municipal, as well as State, failure to provide the company an adequate fare compelled it to go to Federal court to obtain the 8-cent fare.

To this Muench replies that the city felt that if the abnormal expenditures of the company upon damage claims were reduced, if city lines were relieved of the deficits incurred by county lines and if the company's high allowance of $1,500,000 a year for depreciation were reduced, that the 7-cent fare would yield an adequate return.

The only procedure to bring the facts on these items to light was an audit of the company's books. Muench asserts, and this was proceeding under the direction of the Public Service Commission, with the prospect that it would be completed not later than March 1.

The questions of rate of return, valuation, service and other features of the operation of public utilities are of such importance, Counselor Muench's statement concludes, that they should not be passed upon lightly or without full investigation. Neither the city nor the Public Service Commission can afford, on the plea of a utility's immediate necessities, to forego this investigation, and to make orders which, if improvidently made, may result in situations as unsatisfactory as those which the establishment of State public service commissions was designed to prevent.

A typographical error made the Post-Dispatch say in its Sunday issue that the common stock of the St. Louis Public Service Co., which is to be the help to the property when the receivership ends, rose "8 points" to 20 1/2. Saturday, instead of "1 point." As the context showed the stock was as high as 20 during the year, it was quoted at 17 1/2 when it first appeared.

ERA OF PROSPERITY IN SPAIN

Due Largely to Consolidation of Nation's Floating Debt. (Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch from the Chicago Daily News, December 1926.) MADRID, Feb. 8.—A new, healthy financial situation has arisen after the successful consolidation of the major part of Spain's floating debt, which has just been accomplished. Ninety five million pesetas worth of Treasury bonds, due for repayment Feb. 4, have been renewed at a lower rate of interest in stock redeemable in 50 years.

Moreover in response to the call of the Government 37,000,000 pesetas of 41,000,000 pesetas worth of Treasury bonds still floating were voluntarily presented for conversion into the same 50-year stock. The operation has created a record in Spanish finance and in conjunction with the Government plans for economic development opens a new era of prosperity. Peseta exchange continues to improve amidst an atmosphere of greater optimism and confidence.

than has been known in many years. The rising peseta facilitates Spanish purchases in America which should increase the present booming trade in the two countries. Government finances, according to this year's budget, may be counted as the healthiest in Europe.

HEAD OF DEFUNCT PIE CONCERN IS YOUTH, 18

Michael J. Ebeling Testifies He Didn't Know Names of Company's Customers.

Michael J. Ebeling, 15-year-old president of the defunct Superior Pie Co., 2610 North Market street, was characterized as "the most peculiar business executive I have ever met" by Referee Coles, to whom the youth admitted almost complete lack of knowledge of the concern's affairs at a hearing in bankruptcy yesterday.

Ebeling testified the company was incorporated in October, 1924 by his father, Joseph, who wished to "set him up in business." The elder Ebeling subscribed to all of the $4000 worth of capital stock and distributed the 40 shares to his son and employees of the company. Michael Ebeling was president and testified he "worked in the office and about the plant." Management of the business was left to E. J. McCloskey, who held the title of "general manager" and one share of stock.

The company, although employing a crew of bakers and delivering its goods in six Ford trucks, never made money, according to Michael Ebeling, who testified his father advanced the concern $6000 during its existence, in addition to the $4000 he originally invested.

Didn't Know Customers.
On the Saturday before last Labor day business closed as usual, Ebeling testified, but when he opened up the following Tuesday morning he found that the general manager, McCloskey, had started a similar business of his own in another neighborhood, employing most of the Superior Co.'s bakers and chauffeurs and using two of the concern's trucks, which McCloskey had secretly bought in from a finance company that held mortgages on them.

"What did you do when you learned that?" Referee Coles inquired.
"I went home and told my dad," Ebeling replied. "There wasn't anything else to do. McCloskey even took the route list and pie recipes and I didn't know who our customers were."

It was at this juncture that Referee Coles characterized Ebeling as a peculiar executive.

Closed Place Month Later.
An unsuccessful effort to continue operation of the concern was made by Emil King, the only baker not taken away by McCloskey, and a chauffeur named Bryant. Ebeling said. After a month's fruitless effort, the quit, leaving the Ford they had used standing in the street in front of the plant.
"It's still there," Ebeling said, "but I don't think it will ever run like much, what with standing out in the weather all this time."
The company filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, listing debts of $2400 and assets, consisting of machinery, that has been appraised at $400. The machinery originally cost $7500, Ebeling said, but he admitted that the appraisal was probably a fair valuation under present conditions.

HELD FOR 15-YEAR-OLD MURDER ON HIS SON'S ACCUSATION

Laborer Said to Have Slain Watchman on Island on Long Island.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Accused of the murder, more than 15 years ago, of Alfred W. Crocker, night watchman on Isaac Guggenheim's place at Port Washington, L. I., Securo de Gregorio, 62 years old, a laborer, is under arrest.
Crocker was shot to death the night of Nov. 2, 1911, while making his rounds. A reward of $1000 was offered for an arrest and conviction.
Detectives said Anthony de Gregorio, 32, a truck driver, son of the prisoner, told them that on the night of the murder he and his father went to the Guggenheim place, where the elder De Gregorio was then a gardener, to get some shrubbery. Seeing Crocker, they fired. Crocker caught them, and the elder De Gregorio is alleged to have shot him several times.

INTIMIDATED AT SHADY REST Sightseer at Ruins Tells of Experience With Gunmen.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 8.—John T. Gaskins, a wealthy resident here, disclosed today that when he and his family stopped Sunday at Shady Rest to view the ruins of the Char's Birger resort that was burned the night of Jan. 1 with the loss of four lives, 10 men heavily armed with shotguns and machine guns, got out of three automobiles and approached Gaskins' automobile with guns leveled.
After scrutinizing each occupant closely the leader asked, "Are you merely sightseers out here?" Gaskins replied that they were. "Have you seen a big green Buick car pass here?" the leader asked. Gaskins had not, and he then was told to "get away from here." Gaskins returned from Marlon later in the day and saw no one near Shady Rest. Birger has a green Buick.

By the Associated Press.
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Feb. 8.—Sale of the Twin City Sentinel, an evening newspaper, to Owen Moon, owner of the Winston-Salem Journal, a morning paper, is announced by Frank E. Gannett, owner of the Sentinel. The Star, an evening paper, operated by the Journal Co., was discontinued.

OFFICER JOINS ROBBERY GANG Participates in Holdup Plot, Then Causes Arrests.

By the Associated Press.
CLARION, Pa., Feb. 8.—A Pennsylvania State trooper, who had joined a band of Newcastle robbers in an effort to solve a $10,000 diamond robbery, yesterday caused the arrest of two members of the gang after they had obtained $8000 from the Clarion County National Bank at Knox, near here. The bank loot was recovered.

On the eve of "turning up" the diamond thieves the trooper learned of the plan to loot the bank. The two robbers told the trooper, known as "Smith," that they needed an automobile for the holdup. The trooper had a Newcastle banker leave his machine on a street and the gangsters, accompanied by the trooper, stole it. The

That Fat Is Unnecessary

Little about in any circle. Note how fatness prevails. Countless people whose were fat have lost that handicap.

The easy, pleasant way is with Marmola Prescription Tablets. They correct the cause. No abnormal exercise required.

Marmola has been used for 19 years, year by year more and more people learned its benefits and its efficiency. They have told the results to others. Now people are using it in a more extensive way.

One should know this method, based on scientific research. Diet and exercise alone fail, and often do much harm. Learn the results and the benefits the easy, pleasant way. The way that has been tested for nearly two decades.

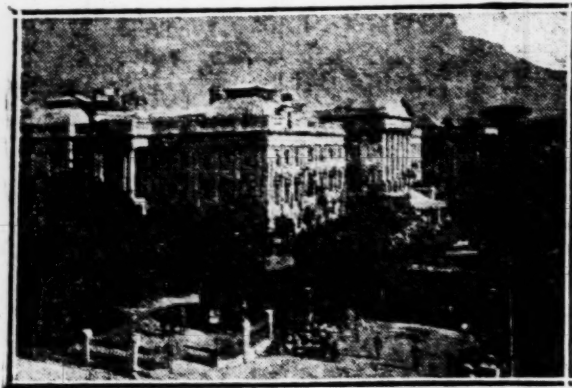

Simply take four tablets daily, after meals. Reduction is never rapid. Gradual, and note how the weight decreases, and note how better you feel. Then in kindness tell others the effects.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists and will get you slim at once. Write for free booklet at once. Write to:

CRITICISES MINERS' FUND

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MACON, Mo., Feb. 8.—The assessment of 20 per cent fixed by the United Mine Workers to cover increase of salaries to national officers and for the creation of a large defense fund makes it prohibitive for Western miners, who could not afford to pay any such amount, said H. Medlin, president of the United Brotherhood of Miners, an organization of Missouri and Arkansas miners, formed at Pittsburg, Kan., last December.

ANTI-EVOLUTIONISTS LAY SIEGE TO CITY

The first of a series of nightly "anti-evolution" meetings this week in a former synagogue, now a privately owned auditorium, Kings highway and Bright avenue, last night drew 78 persons united in the belief, as expressed by the principal speaker, "I don't give a snap of my fingers what a little twy-by-four says about his little old wishy-washy science."

ANTI-EVOLUTIONISTS LAY SIEGE TO CITY

Richard S. Smiley was the speaker. Formerly, as Presiding Judge of the County Court, he was distinguished by bickering with his associates on the bench. Now he is president of the "International Anti-Evolution Society of St. Louis County," of which his brother is financial manager and his mother is treasurer.

The tiny gathering was noisy with "Amens" and "Hallelujahs." Frequently a speaker himself would punctuate his address or prayer with "Glory to God" or "Oh, Lord, or 'Lord, help us.'"

Seek signers for petition. Smiley and the recording secretary of the society, the Rev. Olin J. Gary, announced that they would present in Jefferson City today a petition exhorting members of the Legislature to vote for the anti-evolution bill now pending. They said the petition bore 400 signatures and they hope to have 100,000.

Nine of the 78 persons present were on the platform and took turns in prayer and experiences. They included several ministers or evangelists of the Nazarene Church and a Kroger store manager. Frequent mention was made of the smallness of the gathering.

The Rev. C. F. Transue of Zion Nazarene Church expostulated: "We must realize we've got the majority. We must not tell the devil we've got the majority. By God, we've got the majority!"

The Rev. B. L. Patterson, a Nazarene evangelist, pointed out that evolution never could have converted the Indian warrior Geronimo to a preacher, as the Gospel had.

"They're Monkeying With God." "They're talking about the monkey bill," Smiley shouted. "They're monkeying with God Almighty, that's what they're monkeying with!"

The Rev. Mr. Gary, a brother of Elbert H. Gary, the steel manufacturer, suffered a nervous breakdown in 1913 and retired for a while from the ministry. Since then he entered the Nazarene Church and has practiced a little divine healing while writing a book on evolution which, he explains, "isn't out yet."

Hymns were sung with the accompaniment of a piano and a mandolin. As the Rev. Mr. Gary delivered the benediction Smiley opened his eyes and directed another brother on the platform, to go to the rear of the auditorium, where he had asked those interested to contribute a dollar or two as they passed out.

CROWD OUTWITTED BY SECRET HEARING IN ASSAULT CASE Accused Joplin Men Waive Preliminary and Return to Jail.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 8.—While a crowd of several hundred persons waited at the court house here to hear the testimony in the preliminary hearing Saturday of O. H. Gentry Jr. and Wilkins Taylor, sons of wealthy Joplin families charged with assault on a young girl, the two were secretly taken before Justice Edward McDonald in his courtroom, a block away, where they waived preliminary examination.

Sheriff Guy Humes had brought the prisoners by a secret route from Carthage, where they had been held without bail, and took them up an alley to the courtroom. They were whisked away as soon as possible to avoid any demonstration.

The summer cabin where it is alleged the girl was kept almost 24 hours after being kidnaped has been torn down by Taylor's family and hauled away. The State, it is said, however, has made drawings and photographs of the cabin.

Attorneys for the defense did not ask for bail, and the men were taken back to jail.

CHURCH FORGIVES EMBEZZLER
Repentant, He Admits Offenses, and Asks to Be Taken Back.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 8.—James E. Keeley, who has admitted a $1000 shortage in Masonic Temple funds in his keeping, once more is a member of Settle Memorial Methodist Church, from which he withdrew a number of years ago.

Keeley last Sunday in a brief talk at church, said he had broken every law of God and man except that against murder. He was sorry and asked to be taken back. His membership was restored to him. No court action has been taken against Keeley, his friends having agreed to help him make restitution.

$100,000 WORTH OF ALL PERFECT FULL-FASHIONED

Nationally Advertised Onyx Hosiery

PURCHASED BY OUR GROUP OF 15 STORES OF WHICH OUR SHARE REPRESENTS ABOUT $20,000 OF THE AMOUNT

The makers of Onyx Hosiery decided to retire. Their plant, stock on hand, good-will—everything—was sold to another concern! Every pair of made-up Hosiery was offered to the retailers of the country at public auction in New York. This big, live store—in its usual aggressive manner—was one of the two largest buyers of Hosiery at that auction. Onyx Hosiery has an enviable national reputation! It is known from coast to coast for its style and wearing qualities! Such a sale as this would be a big event in any store—and, indeed, many stores tried to bid it in. But few stores could handle the immense quantities that were put up for sale. We purchased at the auction 175,000 pairs of this Hosiery in the $100,000 purchase.

Full-Fashioned ONYX for Women!

The quantity of women's Hosiery in this purchase is astounding. The wise woman will buy enough to last a year—she'll wear ONYX quality and save money. Almost one entire main aisle in the main building is given over to the women's section of this ONYX purchase.

RUTHERFORD B. HORN BROOK CITY WHARF MASTER, DIES

Former River Pilot Had Been
Resident of St. Louis for 20 Years.

Rutherford Birch Hornbrook, 59 years old, wharf master of St.
Louis, died yesterday from a heart attack at his home at 5545 Vernon avenue.

Mr. Hornbrook had been in the employ of the city since 1918. He was born in Evansville, Ind., spending his entire life in work connected with either the Mississippi or Ohio rivers. As a child he often accompanied his father, a river captain, on river trips. Although for the last 20 years his residence was in St. Louis, during much of the time he was a pilot, river boat captain or steward.

Two Killed in Train Wreck. By the Associated Press.

CORNELLIA, Ga., Feb. 8.—Two persons were killed and several injured, two seriously, when the Tallulah Falls passenger train from Franklin, N. C., to Cornelia, Ga., wrecked at Hazelwood Creek trestle near Demorest, Ga. The body of E. B. Hogsd, news agent of Cornelia, and that of a Negro passenger were recovered from the wreckage.

WANTS CITY TO DECIDE POLICE BUDGET'S SIZE

Representative Parker Proposes Amendment to Bill at Pension Committee Hearing.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—Amendment of the St. Louis and Kansas City police pension bills, to strike out a provision that the boards of Police Commissioners may include the annual pension requirements in their police budgets, which the cities must pass without question under the present State law, was proposed in a hearing on the bills last night before the House Committee on Pensions.

Representative Jones Parker of St. Louis opposed this section of the St. Louis bill and members of the Kansas City Police Board said they had no objection to elimination of a like section from the Kansas City measure. Parker pointed out that under the present law police boards of the cities without police home rule may ask whatever police appropriations they desire, and it is mandatory for the cities to provide the funds.

The move to eliminate this section from the pension bills is in keeping with the St. Louis modified police home rule bills now pending in committee. They would give the city power to determine the amount appropriated for the police.

Objections Only to Form.

No opposition to the proposed police pensions developed at the hearing, the only objections being to the form of the bills. They were drafted to put into effect a constitutional amendment passed at the November election, giving municipalities with organized police departments authority to establish police pension funds.

The committee deferred action on the bills for a week, to prepare amendments.

Parker also suggested eliminating a provision that all unexpended balances in the police appropriations at the end of a fiscal year should be transferred to the pension fund, instead of reverting to the city treasury.

The St. Louis bill provides disability pay for policemen during illness or after injuries, and for retirement on half-pay for disability after periods of service from 10 to 25 years. In case of death of a policeman, the pension goes to the widow, with additional allowances for each child.

Other sources of revenue for the pension fund include assets of the present St. Louis Police Pension Association, rewards and special fees of watchmen, fees for arrests by police officers and an assessment of not to exceed 2 per cent of the monthly salary of each policeman. Provision was made for voting for a special annual property tax of 1 mill on the $1 of valuation.

The hearing was taken up largely with discussion of a proposed license fee of $10 a year for private watchmen, licensed by the Police Board to carry weapons. A protest was made by John Brangenberg of St. Louis on behalf of private watchmen and prolonged debate resulted. Approximately 2000 private watchmen are licensed in St. Louis. It was said, most of them being messengers for banks and other business firms.

Wants Pensions for Farmers.

A farmer pension resolution, introduced by Representative W. E. Whitecotton, of Monroe County, providing pensions of $40 a month for all farmers attaining the age of 60 years, who have been engaged in farming for 25 years, was driven to the informal calendar by opposition in the House yesterday afternoon when it came up for engrossment. Whitecotton's resolution would have submitted the pension proposal to a vote in the next election.

Whitecotton read a prepared speech, in which he declared the farmers needed the pension to enable them to pay their taxes and other pensions being established by the State. He asserted the farmer paid more taxes than any other class.

SUES FOR WIFE'S FATAL FALL

L. W. Dragon Wants $10,000 for Her Death Last March.

A $10,000 damage suit growing out of the death of Mrs. Lucille Dragon last March 11 was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by her husband, Louis W. Dragon, 2411 Oregon avenue, against the New Coliseum Co. and the Woman's National Exposition.

The suit states that Mrs. Dragon, who was a member of the St. Louis Pageant Society, was injured Feb. 21, 1925, at the Coliseum, as she was leaving a temporary stage erected for singers who were taking part in an entertainment under auspices of the Woman's National Exposition. The petition recites that Mrs. Dragon stumbled when the lights were momentarily dimmed, due to negligence on the part of defendants.

Death Penalty in South Dakota.

By the Associated Press.

PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 8.—The South Dakota Senate has passed, without debate, a bill for capital punishment. The measure, already passed by the House, now goes to Gov. Bulow. It provides electrocution or life imprisonment for persons convicted of murder. The penalty is to be designated by the jury.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY VISITING NURSES

Expansion of Association's Work Discussed and Achievements in 1926 Shown.

The Visiting Nurse Association celebrated its seventeenth birthday at a luncheon of directors and others at the Town Club, yesterday, by hearing from its president, Mrs. John A. Haskell, that it had grown from a struggling organization to a recognized social service agency of the community, with a definite part to play.

Since the Community Fund now relieves the association's leaders of the necessity of soliciting funds, Mrs. Haskell said they, like boards of other agencies, must cast around for new duties. She advised her associates to interest themselves in the whole field of social work, and suggested, as a good beginning, a conference on the public health nursing of this part of the country. She pointed out that the local leaders were not familiar with public health nursing of East St. Louis, Kansas City or Interior Missouri.

Mrs. Moore Speaks.

Mrs. Philip N. Moore, a leader of women and honorary vice president of the association, who was active in its creation in 1910, told the gathering she was proud of its achievements. Miss Emily G. Robson, director, gave some statistical indication of these achievements. The association cared for 13,437 patients in the city and 1607 in St. Louis County during 1926, and had left at the end of the year 823 and 83 in the respective areas. Included were 3380 city and 420 county babies, newborn.

Miss Robson pointed out that one-fifth of the babies born in St. Louis last year were cared for after birth by the 41 nurses of the association. Out of 89,332 visits made by the nurses in the city last year, 50,768, or 56 per cent, were in maternity cases, and there was a similar percentage in the 10,884 county visits. The other calls were for varied diseases and injuries.

Mrs. Edith C. Saxon, treasurer, reported that included in the $99,997 receipts for 1926 was $48,000 for public work from the Community Fund.

Frased at Headquarters.

Miss Robson told of an improvement in technique. While the nurses employed are skilled in their profession, she said, they must be given specific instruction in public health work and methods to be used in a patient's home. Formerly a new nurse was sent to homes with an older one or a supervisor, but the training is given now at headquarters, under Miss Belle R. Francis, educational director, who came here Oct. 1, from the East.

Nursing and Health Department of New York City. Miss Francis also is instructing four student nurses from hospital training schools in public health work.

All officers of the association were re-elected.

ADDS HEALTH TO ITS NAME

Tuberculosis Society Changes Title to Cover Wider Scope.

The Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis, known by that name for more than 20 years, was formally named yesterday the Tuberculosis and Health Society of St. Louis. This change, to correspond with the broader program of health work in St. Louis city and county, was recommended at the annual meeting of the society in December.

Practically all of the larges, including New York and Philadelphia, now have the word "health" included in the name of their tuberculosis associations, according to A. W. Jones, secretary of local society.

"We have recognized how futile it is to divorce public health generally from the tuberculosis problem," he said, "and have gradually broadened our scope of work to embrace a comprehensive health program. The attack continues to be centered on tuberculosis because of that disease's insidious character and extent of its onslaughts, and because the measures that prevent tuberculosis also prevent many other diseases."

TOWN GUARDS PREVENT BURIAL

Chicago Suburb Objects To Opening of Twelfth Cemetery.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Armed guards, placed by the Township of Worth, a suburb, last night patrolled a seven-acre tract adjoining the unincorporated village of Alsip to prevent the burial of a Negro. The Worth Board acted upon reports that the seven acres, which had been marked out as a cemetery, was intended as a burial ground for Negroes, and upon the understanding that the interment of a single body would establish the site as a cemetery. Eleven cemeteries already are in, or near Worth, and the township board decided to prevent establishment of another upon the ground it would menace health.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
Staff Correspondent of the Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—Action by the Senate to pass a resolution for an inquiry into charges of mismanagement and extravagance in the conduct of the prison management, which was expected to confuse and arouse opposition, was defeated today by a vote of 18 to 12.

He asked that it be laid over tomorrow that the opinion of the Senate General George, at the instance of Gov. Baker, who had asked the prison management to be obtained on legal grounds, he said were involved, and that he expected to see a resolution increasing the appropriation for the investigation from $25,000 to $50,000. Baker expressed the opinion that the resolution would be passed, and that the members of the committee would be appointed. The Senate will adjourn tomorrow.

Purpose of Ralph's Motion. Ralph's motion is looked upon as a step toward carrying out the plan to have an inquiry into the prison management. It is expected that the inquiry will be conducted by a committee of the Senate, and that the results will be reported to the Senate. The motion is expected to be passed, and that the inquiry will be conducted.

In view of the precedents set by the administration, the Senate will not oppose the motion. The motion is expected to be passed, and that the inquiry will be conducted.

Board Members Active. The Board of the Penitentiary, which is the governing body of the prison, is expected to be active in the inquiry. The Board is expected to be composed of members of the Senate, and that the results of the inquiry will be reported to the Senate.

Additional Check-up of the prison management is expected to be conducted by the Senate. The Senate is expected to be active in the inquiry, and that the results will be reported to the Senate.

P. SENATOR BLOCKS STATE PRISON INQUIRY

Ralph of St. Louis County
Raises Legal Questions
and Asks for Appropriation of $50,000.

HIS ACTION TENDS TO CONFUSE ISSUE

Will Provide Opponents of Investigation With Arguments
Likely to Cause
Its Defeat.

By CURTIS A. BEPES.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 8.—Action by the Senate of the State resolution for an investigation and audit of the State penitentiary was blocked today by Senator Ralph, Republican floor leader, and as such spokesman in the Senate for the administration, though professing a determination that there shall be an "honest" inquiry into charges of mismanagement and extravagance and inefficiency in the conduct of the pen. Ralph took the steps which are expected to confuse the issue and arouse opposition to the amendment.

He asked that it be laid over tomorrow, that the opinion of Attorney-General Gentry, an associate of Gov. Baker, who has decided the prison management, might be obtained on legal questions that he expected to offer, and that he expected to offer a substitute resolution increasing the appropriation for the investigation from $25,000 to $50,000.

Ralph expressed the opinion that the amendment for the payment of the members of the investigating committee after the adjournment of the Legislature would not be legal and that the Senate would have no power to do anything after the Legislature adjourned.

Purpose of Ralph's Move.
Ralph's move is looked upon as a step toward carrying out Gov. Baker's plan to have an audit of the prison by employees of the penitentiary instead of a committee of public accountants.

He provides opponents of the investigation with an argument that a real investigation on the part of the Legislature would not be legal and that the Senate would have no power to do anything after the Legislature adjourned.

Similar investigations have been conducted in previous years without any result as to legality of the proceeding being raised through several attorneys-general have held particular investigations that power of a committee ended at the adjournment of the Legislature.

In view of the precedents, however, if the administration under which the State Penal Board is now was not opposed to an investigation it could have had the resolution. The raising of legal points to prevent the investigation and the increase in the appropriation far beyond what would be necessary to conduct the investigation, which is a most comprehensive and well-informed inquiry.

Board Members Active.
Senators Mosley and A. H. Stein, members of the Penal Board, were in the Senate chamber today with Republican Senators in the morning session, and in the Senate chamber during the debate Senator Caves continued to Ralph's request that the resolution lay over until tomorrow, a courtesy almost always granted.

An amendment to the resolution for a committee to investigate the management of the penitentiary, which in the House a surplus fund of $427,286 has been wiped out, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Caves. It seeks to authorize the committee to audit the penitentiary in every detail of its management.

The House resolution was hastily introduced and even to confer the issue with the committee on the Senate while with the exception that it does not make the employment of experts mandatory on the Senate amendment.

Additional check-up of bookkeeping expenses of the penitentiary, the industries department and the Prison Board, Secretary of the Prison Board, that there is a deficit of $160,000 in the penitentiary revenues has shown that the deficit to the legislative appropriation for operating expenses of the industries department for the year for $412,286, which could be used without appropriation, but that funds which had

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER WARNS G. O. P. AGAINST THIRD TERM CANDIDACY

Says Coolidge's "Common Sense" Will Cause
Him to Announce He Won't Run in 1928—Only Wet Can Win

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Disclaiming any direct information, but with an air of conviction, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler declared last night that it was his belief that President Coolidge will not be a candidate for another term, and that in frank terms the president of Columbia University discussed the third-term issue, asserting that the common sense of the nation would not allow his name to go before the 1928 Republican convention.

Dr. Butler's speech, which was delivered at the regular meeting of the Riverside Republican Club, was regarded by many as an avowal of his willingness to be a return to the international question, as undebatable, but he insisted that should President Coolidge decide otherwise, Butler would be among those who would oppose the President's ambition.

He would, he said, be "greatly surprised" and "greatly disappointed" if the President sought to run again.

Dr. Butler also said prohibition was the chief issue, and that the Republicans must nominate a wet to win in 1928. New York and other large cities will decide the next election, he said.

Other issues he stressed were agricultural relief and an adequate foreign policy, indicating that the Coolidge policies in both respects met with his disapproval. He urged a return to the international policies which governed America's foreign relations until 1916.

Wet Considered Necessary.
Dr. Butler said in part: "Neither the Republican nor the Democratic party has anything like its old-time vigor, unity of purpose, or effectiveness of organization. This is due in part to the fact that many questions which formerly divided the two great parties have disappeared from view. It is due in part to the fact that the so-called direct primary has broken down party organization and has greatly weakened representative government and has substituted personal ambition and personal activity for political principle."

"There are men who call themselves Republicans and who seek and secure election to office as such, who have no concern whatever for the historic principles of the party and with whom you and I and those who think like us have nothing whatever in common. A similar condition exists in the Democratic party."

"To group under one name such contradictory personalities as Gov. Smith of New York and Senator Heflin of Alabama, or Mr. John W. Davis of New York, the last Democratic candidate for President, and Senator Reed of Missouri, is to make a mockery of the democratic candidate, is ludicrous to say the least."

Dry Issue Fundamental.
"The prohibition question reaches to the very foundations of our governmental structure. Many excellent persons seem to think it has something to do with the liquor traffic. If so its relation to that traffic must be slight."

"Never before in the history of the country has that traffic been so widely extended or so profitable as now. It is believed to rank next to the automobile industry and the steel industry in amount, and since its profits, being illicit, are untaxed and it is perfectly satisfied with present conditions. Indeed, the present temperance defenders of the present terrible system are the bootleggers and the grape-growers."

"In 1928 no candidate for President can escape making known with definiteness and precision his attitude toward prohibition. Unless he is against it, he cannot, in prison. This was a surplus accumulated from excess profits of previous years, and the fund now is practically exhausted."

Butler Report Demanded.
The Penal Board, of which Dr. Caves is the head, withheld this detailed information from the Governor and the Legislature in the submission of the biennial report and yesterday the Senate adopted a resolution calling upon the board to supply it.

An examination of the prison books shows that the earnings of the industries for the year, amounting to $136,614, were transferred to the main prison office for operating expenses of the prison, exclusive of the industries department, and that in addition to that amount, $412,286 was taken from the surplus fund, leaving only $12,841.

Latter members of the Senate said they considered the withdrawal of the surplus without an appropriation of the amount by the Legislature illegal. It was their position that the earnings for the year could be used without appropriation, but that funds which had Glimpse of Procession.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, Feb. 8.—Official police reports tonight showed that two persons were killed and 721 injured in the crush of 1,000,000 faithful subjects who packed the streets of Tokio last night and today during the funeral of the late Emperor Yoshihito. Most of the injuries were minor.

It was estimated that about 2,000,000 persons assembled in the Capital during the funeral, but no more than 1,000,000 were able to crowd to a point within sight of the funeral cortege or even to get near enough for a glimpse at the procession.

The number of those who contracted pneumonia and influenza from long hours of waiting in the cold streets can not be estimated. The four sacred oxen used to draw the gorgeous catafalque over the four-mile route from the Imperial Palace to the funeral grounds have been placed in one of the Imperial palaces, to live in ease for the remainder of their lives.

Lumber and other material used in building the pavilion and other funeral structures was donated to charity. The catafalque and the palanquin which bore the body from the pavilion to the grave have been preserved in the Imperial museum.

Emperor Hirohito will journey to the grave of his father at Asakawa burial ground tomorrow to worship privately.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The American legation at Lisbon has been repeatedly struck by rifle and machine gun bullets, forcing Minister Fred M. Downing to abandon the building, according to a telegram received today by the State Department.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Not only was the Portuguese revolutionary movement still in full swing today in Oporto, where it began last week, but newspaper reports from Lisbon, the capital, indicated that the civil population there was in arms.

Other uncensored dispatches indicated that the movement at first confined to an insurgent garrison at Oporto, had assumed serious proportions, with the revolutionaries clamoring for restoration of the constitutional rights they alleged were suppressed by President Carmona when he assumed the dictatorship after a military coup last spring.

TROOPS OF DIAZ ADVANCE

By the Associated Press.
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 8.—After an air attack with bombs and machine guns by two airplanes attached to the Conservative army of President Diaz, the Liberal forces which captured the town of Chinandega Sunday are reported to have hoisted the white flag. The report was brought back by William Brooks, a native of New Orleans, who with Lee Mason carried out the air raid, in co-ordination with an advance by the Conservative troops, aided by reinforcements sent from Managua Sunday night.

Brooks said the Conservative troops re-entered the town, parts of which were still smoldering from the fire which destroyed a large area of the town. He expressed the belief that the Liberals, scattering to nearby towns, probably would return in the next day or so to continue the battle. By this time, it was said, further Conservative reinforcements were expected to be on the scene.

"This department has paid out for new machinery and equipment $34,486.07, and also paid out of its earnings $27,655.73 for the new industrial building, making a total of $62,141.80 which would have been placed in the surplus fund had there been no loss."

"In reply to the accusation that we have used up a part of our capital stock I deem to submit a copy of our Dec. 31, 1926, balance sheet, which shows that our original capital, $1,100,000, is intact and that we have a surplus at this time of $12,841.16."

Democrats Would Welcome
Third Term Issue—Presi-

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the

(Copyright, 1927.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Coolidge has no present intention of withdrawing from the presidential race in 1928. He will be guided by the public opinion of the country at the time of the next Republican national convention in June, 1928. Thus far the information given him by Republican leaders from most states is that his nomination will be demanded.

This is Mr. Coolidge's attitude, notwithstanding the prediction made in New York before the Riverside Republican Club by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, that the President would not run again.

Butler's view, however, is held by many Republicans who think Mr. Coolidge should not inject the third-term issue into the campaign.

From the closest friends of Mr. Coolidge, who have an opportunity day by day to judge Mr. Coolidge's mental processes, the impression gained is that the President is not going to run again.

So far as can be learned, Mr. Coolidge has never told anybody he would or would not be a candidate in 1928. The political mechanism which surrounds a President and reaches into the various State organizations has for several months taken it for granted that Mr. Coolidge's name would be put forward to the convention whether or not he lifted a finger to indicate his desire.

COOLIDGE KEEPS SILENCE.

ESTABLISHES NEW COLLEGE.

By the Associated Press.
The United States Senate rejected the Lausanne treaty, and voices the wish for the approval of some treaty, he is not moved by the Turkish situation. He is not moved by the Turkish situation. He is not moved by the Turkish situation.

OUTSIDE HOME HE WILL RUN.

Outside the Republican ranks, where the third term question is discussed, particularly among Democrats, the prevailing thought is that the Republicans will renominate Mr. Coolidge. The Democrats hope so, partly because they think they can use the third term issue on the stump, but mostly because the basis of their attack at this time will be the acts of the Coolidge administration.

Interested observers of politics decline to believe that if the economic condition of the country is satisfactory the business interests which have a great deal to do with influencing nominations will want the present administration re-elected.

The Lausanne treaty, Senators have said, was rejected because it failed to provide for fulfilling the Wilson award to Armenia, because it did not contain guarantees for protection of Christians and other non-Muslims in Turkey, and because it failed to provide that Turkey should recognize the change of nationality on the part of Turks who have been naturalized in this country.

MANY PERSONS REPORTED DEAD IN ARGENTINE CONFLAGRATION

U. S. SHOULD MAKE TREATY WITH TURKEY, G. E. WHITE OF ANATOLIA COLLEGE SAYS

Expelled From Asia Minor, at 65 He Is Re-Establishing Christian School at Salonica, Greece—Visits
St. Louis.

The United States should make the best treaty it can with Turkey, as a basis for business relations and for a better treaty later. This is the advice of President George E. White of Anatolia College, who in the last week has been telling St. Louis educational and church groups of the great things that are doing on the shores of the Aegean Sea.

He has told of the new Greece—of Athens, grown suddenly from a sleepy and provincial Old World capital to a city of the size and activity of St. Louis; and of Salonika, ancient home of the Thessalonians, to whom Paul wrote two epistles, now become a port and a city comparable to New Orleans.

This city growth, and the increase of 20 to 25 per cent in the population of Greece as a whole, have come through the exchange of population which the Turkish Government began by expelling 1,500,000 Greeks and Armenians from Turkey, and which the League of Nations continued by sending 400,000 Turks out of Macedonia to their homeland.

The vast movement of population, which in its numbers outdoes all such movements recorded since the Hebrew exodus from Egypt, or since the half-journeyed folk-wanderings of early Europe and Asia, is the center of the story which this grayed and earnest man himself told on Turkish soil, in telling to Americans.

Indescribable hardships, as the world knows, attended the forced removal. Now that time and outside aid have mitigated these sufferings, Dr. White hopes that the change may be made a benefit to the peoples concerned and to the world.

Establishes New College.
He has made the New Greece his home, and at the age of 65 he is building anew, at Salonika, the college which he headed in Asia Minor and from which he was expelled three days' notice by the Turkish authorities in 1921. Of the friends, particularly Armenians, from whom he parted at that time, few are now living. Twelve of his fellow teachers lost their lives.

So, when Dr. White expresses regret that the United States Senate rejected the Lausanne treaty, and voices the wish for the approval of some treaty, he is not moved by the Turkish situation. He is not moved by the Turkish situation. He is not moved by the Turkish situation.

Another million Armenians are in Russia, most of them in the parts of Russia adjacent to Armenia. A third million is scattered, including the many who took refuge in Greece when all the rest of the world, including the United States, closed the doors to them.

"The Armenians are a persistent people, and a patient people, if ever there was one. As for Armenians in Turkey, there are no Armenians in Turkey, save in the city of Constantinople, and a few Greeks. In Turkey, outside Constantinople, these Christian peoples are gone, except a few who have been allowed to stay after the floor has been swept."

"Even in cases where internecine warfare occurs between the Christian and Turkish populations, this has not been a great obstacle to the repatriation of the peoples. For the woman who married a Turk became herself a Turk, and ceased to be regarded as one of her own people."

"A treaty as I see it is desirable chiefly as an aid to acquaintance and understanding. I don't wish to say much about the policy and tendencies of the Turkish Government. In its attitude toward religion, including the Mohammedan religion, the Turkish Government appears to be trying to create a secular state. It has sought to make the cult of Mohammed a social organization, and to remove religious elements removed. In this, it seems to be in part successful."

Former Premier Venizelos of Greece told me, "We have learned to trust America." I think that is the general feeling."

The Lausanne treaty, Senators have said, was rejected because it failed to provide for fulfilling the Wilson award to Armenia, because it did not contain guarantees for protection of Christians and other non-Muslims in Turkey, and because it failed to provide that Turkey should recognize the change of nationality on the part of Turks who have been naturalized in this country.

The first two points are of intense interest to President White, the third of less interest. But with the caution often known by those whose work is in troubled foreign parts, and who must soon return to that work, the educator asked to be excused from arguing the matter in detail.

A stipulation attached to the rejected treaty provided that the and Sovereign Rights.

By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, Feb. 8.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian dictator and generalissimo of the armies that are fighting the Cantonese, made a bid for the favor of foreign Powers today when on behalf of the northern military forces he issued a statement pledging protection of all foreign lives and property in the realm of the Peking Government.

Marshal Chang promised that the Peking Government would maintain its credit obligations but warned that "we expect the powers to respect our public opinion and sovereign rights so that the Chinese may be freed of fear of possible invasion from the outside while the powers may be freed of apprehension over antiforeign movements."

The northern General declared his forces were operating only against bolshevism and that "there is room for negotiations for all except bolshevists."

He outlined an extensive program of national reform, preservation of national sovereign rights, restoration of order, extension of educational facilities, plans for the co-operation of capital and labor, extension of communication facilities and plans for judicial reform.

Economic Rehabilitation.
Referring to the civil war in China he said:

"The sponsors of extreme radicalism in China, being puppets in the hands of certain foreign agents, have failed to see the present opportunity of mending a distressed people by erroneous theories which are working havoc. They are bound to fail, but it is intolerable to see the people suffer."

Chang declared economic rehabilitation must be accomplished by augmenting national productive power, cutting out unnecessary expenses, which he said means limitation of the size of the army.

"The present juncture marks the turning point in the history of China," he said. "For the good of the people and the continuance of friendly relations with the powers, it is time to ponder carefully what our responsibilities and attitude, face to face with the Powers, should be. Equality in international treatment is the only safeguard to world peace."

KING DISCUSSES BRITAIN'S POLICY

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 8.—The third session of the present British Parliament, elected in 1924, was opened in state by King George, with time-honored ceremony today. Huge crowds lined the streets to see the royal procession. Queen Mary accompanied the King to Parliament for the ceremony.

The King's speech opening the session—actually a ministerial statement—was unusually brief and was mainly devoted to the Chinese problem.

He explained that it had been deemed necessary to send to China an adequate force to protect British subjects, because of the happenings at Hankow and other places, but emphasized that it was the desire of the British people to "remove all grievances, to renew our treaties on an equitable basis and to place our future relations with the Chinese people on a footing of friendship and good will."

"My relations with the foreign Powers continue to be friendly," the King said. "The League of Nations has been strengthened and a further step taken toward the restoration of normal international relations in Europe by the entry of Germany into the League and her appointment as a permanent member on the Council of the League."

In continuation of this policy, it was found possible at the end of last month to terminate the system of allied military control in Germany as set up by the treaty of Versailles, and to hand over to the League all questions affecting the military clauses of the treaty.

"Continuation of the civil war in China and the anti-foreign agitation particularly in the north, have caused me grave anxiety. In consequence of what happened at Hankow and in other places, my Government felt it necessary to dispatch to the Far East a sufficient force to protect our subjects."

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Sorcerous Romance

ARMINE VON TENPESKI, STOKES.

It is one thing to create a tale that is romantic only by virtue of the special character of the imaginary events narrated. It is quite another thing to produce a story that is romantic in mood, but in the mood which envelops the tale as the atmosphere envelops the earth. If you happen never to have thought of the mood of a book, you have missed something important.

One of the chief differences between literature and all the rest of the writing in the world is that the literary artist always creates a distinctive mood; and it is that which makes in memory and moves one after the details of the work are forgotten. One who has little knowledge of music may be able to hum or whistle a single strain from an orchestral piece he has heard and yet be deeply moved by the memory of the mood generated by the music. It is the same in literature, and in the other arts.

One of the most remarkable things about Armine von Tempeski's romance is the intense romanticism which she creates even before the story is well begun. Nor can the reader put his finger on any particular sentence or passage and say, "This is what did it." It comes from the personality of the author, and it does to the tale what light and sunset color may do to a landscape.

"Hula" is a sorcerous book. It is a book that is "fed up" on the standardized love-making of the movies and the popular novels. It is a story very likely to enthrall.

There are localities in Hawaii, says Miss von Tempeski, "that are beautiful as Eden—isolated from the bulk of the island by lava outcrops and mighty ravines—that little worlds in themselves. In them people live as they have lived for centuries—unconscious of the outside world and the subconscience that they are beyond the reach of outsiders. Hana on the island of Maui is such a place."

The author herself was born and raised in Maui, her father having been a wealthy ranch-owner there. It is in this earthly paradise that the story of "Hula" is set.

Think of a June twilight, think of a night sky, "exclaims the publisher-blurb-writer, "and you have the atmosphere that Armine von Tempeski brings with her into a New York publishing office."

The lyrical outburst from a publisher's writer does not surprise one who has read "Hula." There is something magical about the book, something that one inclines to describe as luminous and fragrant. No doubt it is the author's own spirit that one feels.

HOW I CAME TO BE. By Armine von Tempeski. Macmillan.

THIS autobiography ends precisely where other autobiographies begin—at birth. What is in reality a scientific account of the process of gestation is here given as a story told in the first person. Just at first the reader may find it difficult to suppress his sense of humor while an ovum discourses professionally on biological matters, but the worthy purpose of the author wins. That purpose is concerned with a very commendable desire to inform young people on a matter of fundamental importance.

EATING VITAMINES. By C. Houston Goudiss. Funk & Wagnalls.

THIS volume by a well-known authority on nutrition not only explains vitamins and their relation to health, but furnishes many recipes with especial reference to vitamin content. Formerly it was regarded as important to know how to avoid starvation with an empty stomach. It now appears important to avoid starvation with a full one. If you have been eating three squares daily and yet somehow seem to be starving to death, this is the book that can explain your predicament.

Armine von Tempeski, the author of "Hula," is described as a little 50-pound slip of a girl, who runs a "dude ranch" in Hawaii and owns a fine string of saddle horses. "My sister and I do everything," says Miss von Tempeski, "saddle, cook, pitch tents, cut firewood. Sometimes we are out for a week at a time, often too tired to eat when the work is done and we come home for a day or so of rest, thankful that none of the dudes has fallen off and none of the horses been killed. We have to turn out frequently at 3 o'clock or at midnight to meet the incoming hosts and grab the dudes. We live 20 miles from one port and 40 from the other, and sometimes it's chains and rain all the way home in the dark. But we've made a go of it and no one believed we could."

Nathan Gallizer, who died recently at his home in Cincinnati, was regarded by many as the best writer of historical novels in America. By day he was a successful business man. He spent his evenings in the middle ages. His historical romances were the result of his intense interest in medieval life. The last of these, entitled "The Red Confessor," has just appeared. It is concerned with the adventures of Guido, Lord of Firenze, and of his friend, Benvenuto Cellini.

EMMA H. LANE, SOCIAL LEADER OF OLD ST. LOUIS, DIES

Founder of Capt. Peter, Who Passed Today with the Death of Emma H. Lane, of the In-her apartment the Buckingham Hotel.

Miss Lane, who celebrated her 100th birthday on Jan. 3, was the daughter of Capt. Enoch Lane, who died in 1819. She came to St. Louis in 1819 and founded steamships on the Ohio, Missouri, Mississippi, and Kentucky rivers, and other outposts as far west as the Northwest as Fort Benton, and carrying cargoes of pelts and furs for the Astor Fur Co.

Miss Lane was born in the Price Center at the southeast corner of Olive and Olive just across Ohio from the home of Adele Sargent, who is Mrs. J. L. D. Morrison, who is social arbiter of St. Louis.

After her marriage to Peter Lane, nephew of William Lane, first Mayor of St. Louis, she resided for 50 years at 2440 West Pine boulevard, and that residence became a rendezvous for much of St. Louis' social life.

Her death in recent years she moved to the Buckingham Hotel, where Mrs. Morrison also lived for many years. She also had a summer home in Westchester, Mass., where many St. Louisans visited her.

Miss Lane is survived by three sons, Presley Carr Lane, four daughters, Mrs. Robert de Courcy, Mrs. John S. Carter, Miss Lane, and Miss Lane, and five grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Thursday from the Church Cathedral.

client force to protect the lives of my British and Indian subjects against mob violence and armed attacks.

Proposals to China.

"But I earnestly desire a peaceful settlement of the difficulties which have arisen, and my Government has caused proposals to be made to the Chinese authorities which should convince public opinion in China and throughout the world that it is the desire of the British people to remove all real grievances, to renew our treaties on an equitable basis and to place our future relations with the Chinese people on a footing of friendship and good will. My Government will maintain our traditional policy of noninterference in the internal affairs of China.

"I realize that a fair and friendly settlement has been reached regarding funding of the war debt due this country by Portugal."

The King expressed pleasure over the encouraging signs of improvement of trade and industry and hoped those engaged in the industries would do their utmost to prevent arresting of the improvement by industrial strife.

He announced that proposals would be made to give effect to the change in the style of the title of the sovereign, as recommended by the Imperial conference, as well as alterations in the title of Parliament.

A Bill, he said, would be presented to encourage the production and exhibition of British motion pictures.

The British Government is "playing with fire" in sending troops to China, the House of Commons was told by Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier, during debate on the King's speech from the throne. MacDonald appealed for reopening of the negotiations with the Chinese, after which he said the troops now on the way to the Far East could be diverted and not landed anywhere in China.

Premier Baldwin, who followed the Labor chief, said that if the British representatives in Shanghai consider the emergency requires immediate disembarkation of the British troops in Shanghai, then the Government will act accordingly. If an emergency does not exist, the landing brigades will be held in readiness in Hongkong while the rest of the force is approaching.

The Premier declined to enter into arrangements with Eugene Chen, the Cantonese Foreign Minister, or anyone else regarding Asia Minor, to take the place from which the Christian population had been driven, and to make room for the Christian peoples in Macedonia, Greece and Bulgaria carried out an exchange of border populations on a smaller scale, moving about 80,000 in each direction. As a result, Bulgaria is almost homogeneous, and Greek Macedonia has more than 90 per cent of Greek inhabitants.

"The League of Nations has given countenance to loans for the settling of the refugees upon the land. The commissions headed by Henry Morgenthau and Charles F. Howland have settled hundreds of thousands of the new inhabitants upon the land.

"Six million grape vines have been furnished by the government to the Greek refugees. Textile and rug-weaving industries have sprung up. Silk, tobacco and grain are becoming large exports. Shipping lines are establishing regular schedules between Salonika and American ports, and through sleeping cars now run from Salonika to Paris.

"London bankers subscribed a $16,000,000 loan several times over. In 15 minutes, for the Greek Government's reclamation project for the refugees. The project is intended to provide truck farms for 25,000 families, the produce from the farms to feed the city of Salonika."

This stimulating background is in President White's mind when he describes his educational project, started almost on the traditional shoestring in the refugee city of Salonika, and now at the point of plans for a new institution.

Remits Gambling House.
Three years ago, he relates, in the overcrowded and half-burned city of Salonika, and with a teaching staff of seven Americans, four Greeks and two Armenians, Dr. White reopened Anatolia College, which had stood in Marsovan, Asia Minor.

"Not a bench, a bell, a book or a building" had then been salvaged from the old plant. A new casino, intended by its builders for a gambling resort, was rented as headquarters, and two French military hospital wards were obtained for dining room, dormitory and industries. A dormitory building was added in the same year, and in 1925 a new quadrangle was begun. A Greek law, requiring property used by foreign schools to be held in the name of Greeks, was altered, and the new enterprise, which is run in the name of a Boston board of trustees, in its old home in Turkey, Anatolia College had graduated more than 300, and had 2500 former students.

Except for the younger preparatory Greek and Armenian pupils, teaching is in English, and English textbooks are used. The college has about 100 boarding students and 70 day pupils, and its charges are $160 a year for boarders and $40 for day pupils. The present aim is to place the institution in the rank of an American junior college, though that aim has not yet been reached.

A Small Beginning.
A new "permanent campus," high above the crowded and sometimes malarial city, has been acquired. Part of it was bought from the Greek Orthodox Church. Plans for a group of new buildings have been made by architects.

Last summer, two of the teachers were permitted to visit the abandoned plant on Turkish soil, and brought back musical instruments, laboratory supplies and some 1000 books.

Fifteen young men completed the equivalent of the Freshman year of college work last June. They received certificates saying they had finished the course which the college was then prepared to offer. Four of these youths went to teaching in orphanages of the Near East. Relief, one has since begun the study of medicine, one of electrical engineering, and two have entered the School of Religion in Athens.

A small beginning. So it was when John Harvard gave 260 books and $2000 to found a college in Massachusetts. And, as Dr. White points out, the people of the new Greece, like those of early New England, are a pilgrim people.

Try Dr. Blosser's Medical Cigarettes in the Next Attack

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble.

That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the point where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or cubebs, and being harmless, are used by children, as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, plain nasal catarrh, catarrhal deafness, hay fever, asthma, bronchial irritations, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any druggist a convenient pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

Guaranteed to Conquer Intestinal Putrefaction

NINE out of ten people, authorities state, are victims of Intestinal Putrefaction without knowing it. Yet steadily it undermines health, youth and vigor of body and mind.

Intestinal Putrefaction is NOT constipation. It is simply TOO MUCH DECAY of waste food matter in the intestines. Even when bowels move regularly, this excess decay forms more toxic poisons (and often more gas) than the body will freely discharge. The excess poisons enter and pollute the blood. Health, good looks, youthful vitality, strength, sleep and nerves are gradually affected. Serious diseases frequently are later consequences. Biliousness, premature ageing, loss of energy, confidence and ambition occur in numerous cases.

The excess gas, when present produces such ills as indigestion, pains, bloating, belching, dizziness, sick headaches or bad breath, etc.

Resupply Your System With Its Natural Acidophilus

Only recently Science has found—in Nature herself—the safe, drugless remedy for Intestinal Putrefaction. This method, used by many physicians, is to adequately resupply the intestines with living, growing organisms of B. Acidophilus. These are tiny protective organisms which Nature gave you in childhood—to keep your bowels pure and safe by STOPPING EXCESS DECAY of waste food matter in your body. Largely through careless diet, as time passes these protective organisms become too few.

WOMAN'S VOICE FINALLY LURES SHELTONS TO THE TRAP

Inside Stories of the Southern Illinois Gang War as Told by Charlie Birger's Chief Lieutenant, "Art" Newman

Lives of "Wild Bill" Holland and Mayor Adams Pay for That of "High Pockets" Mc Quay

PLANE USED FOR FIRST TIME IN GANG WARFARE IN BOMBING "SHADY REST"

Birger Spies Even Attended the Wake Over Mayor Adams to Keep Tabs on the Next Move of the Enemy.

The Eighth Story

By E. ROY ALEXANDER,
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

FOR a Shelton gangster of the prominence of Pat Pulliam, there were many healthier spots than the Herrin Hospital where he found himself last Sept. 12, under treatment for a bullet wound in the arm. Herrin was within easy reach of the Birger gang, which then carrying on an aggressive campaign against Shelton men, by a few hours before "Wild Bill" Holland, Carl Shelton's bodyguard, had been riddled with bullets as he sat in Pulliam's roadster at a Herrin roadhouse.

The smart thing for Pulliam to do, therefore, was to get out of Herrin as fast as possible before the Birger crowd found out he had only wounded him and came back again to complete their work.

"He worked a swell stunt to get away," Art Newman said in beginning the story, "and it was just luck that we found it out. After the Holland shooting a bunch of the Birger boys were riding the hard road towards Benton, north of Marion, when they caught up with a funeral. There were six cars with mourners in them and a hearse. Steve George was with the Birger bunch and he hollered over to the hearse driver: 'Who's dead?'"

Steve was a gold-toothed ruffian who later was killed when he went back to the cabin. "For this attack and the shooting of Holland and Pulliam there was quick retaliation. In the early morning of Oct. 25 the body of

Clarence Adams, who was killed by the Birger boys, was found in a ditch near the road. "The last we saw of Casey was when he left the cabin in his Chevrolet to visit his girl in Herrin," Newman said. "The fellows warned him not to go because the Shelton crowd was setting plenty hot, but he went anyhow and the next we knew he was dead."

"Later a young fellow named Clarence Robins, that was kind of friendly to both sides, told us he was driving in from Shawneetown the night Casey was killed. At the Equality crossroad he said he saw two big automobiles, a Stutz eight, like the one Joe Adams had, and a Buick sedan like the one Blackie Arms, the Shelton gangster, owned."

"Clarence said he had to slow down to pass the cars and as he did he saw Casey get out of one of them with his hands up and some men following him with guns. Then he said he heard Joe Adams say, 'Hurry up, Gus! Let's get into this car and get away.' Clarence said he knew Joe's voice when he heard it."

"Well, anyhow, we had Casey buried down in Equality. He didn't have any relatives except a brother from Ohio or Indiana. I forget which. Well, we gave him a mighty nice funeral. It cost $185. Charlie Birger paid for it because Casey was a good man and Charlie issued orders that he was to have plenty flowers."

"The killing of the two Birger men was followed several nights later by a raid on 'County Line,' a Birger roadhouse, just south of West Frankfort, Machine guns, presumably of the Shelton-Adams gang, crept up through the woods behind the place, thoroughly 'strafed' the two light frame buildings with machine gun fire and then burned them. No one was in the place at the time but the resort represented an investment of several thousand dollars."

So the Birger gang charged up another mark against Joe Adams and redoubled its activity on the roads at night. Meanwhile, the postoffice inspectors, having secured the indictment of the Shelton brothers for the Collinsville mail robbery, prepared to take them into custody. Earl Shelton had already been discharged from St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis, where Newman and his pal, Freddie Wooten, had planned to have his throat cut a few weeks before. Carl and Bernie, likewise, were not to be found by the inspectors.

"So I decided I'd try to help figure he was right on the bottom in the killing of High," Newman said. "They had been indicted on my testimony and I figured I might as well finish the job. First I went to East St. Louis and met Postoffice Inspectors Keefe and Casey there."

"While we were driving around, we saw Minnie and Annie Shelton, Bernie's and Earl's wives, on Tenth street. We followed them to Tenth, Lincolnville avenue, thinking they'd lead us to the boys, but they caught a glimpse of me, and so they parked their car and wouldn't go anywhere."

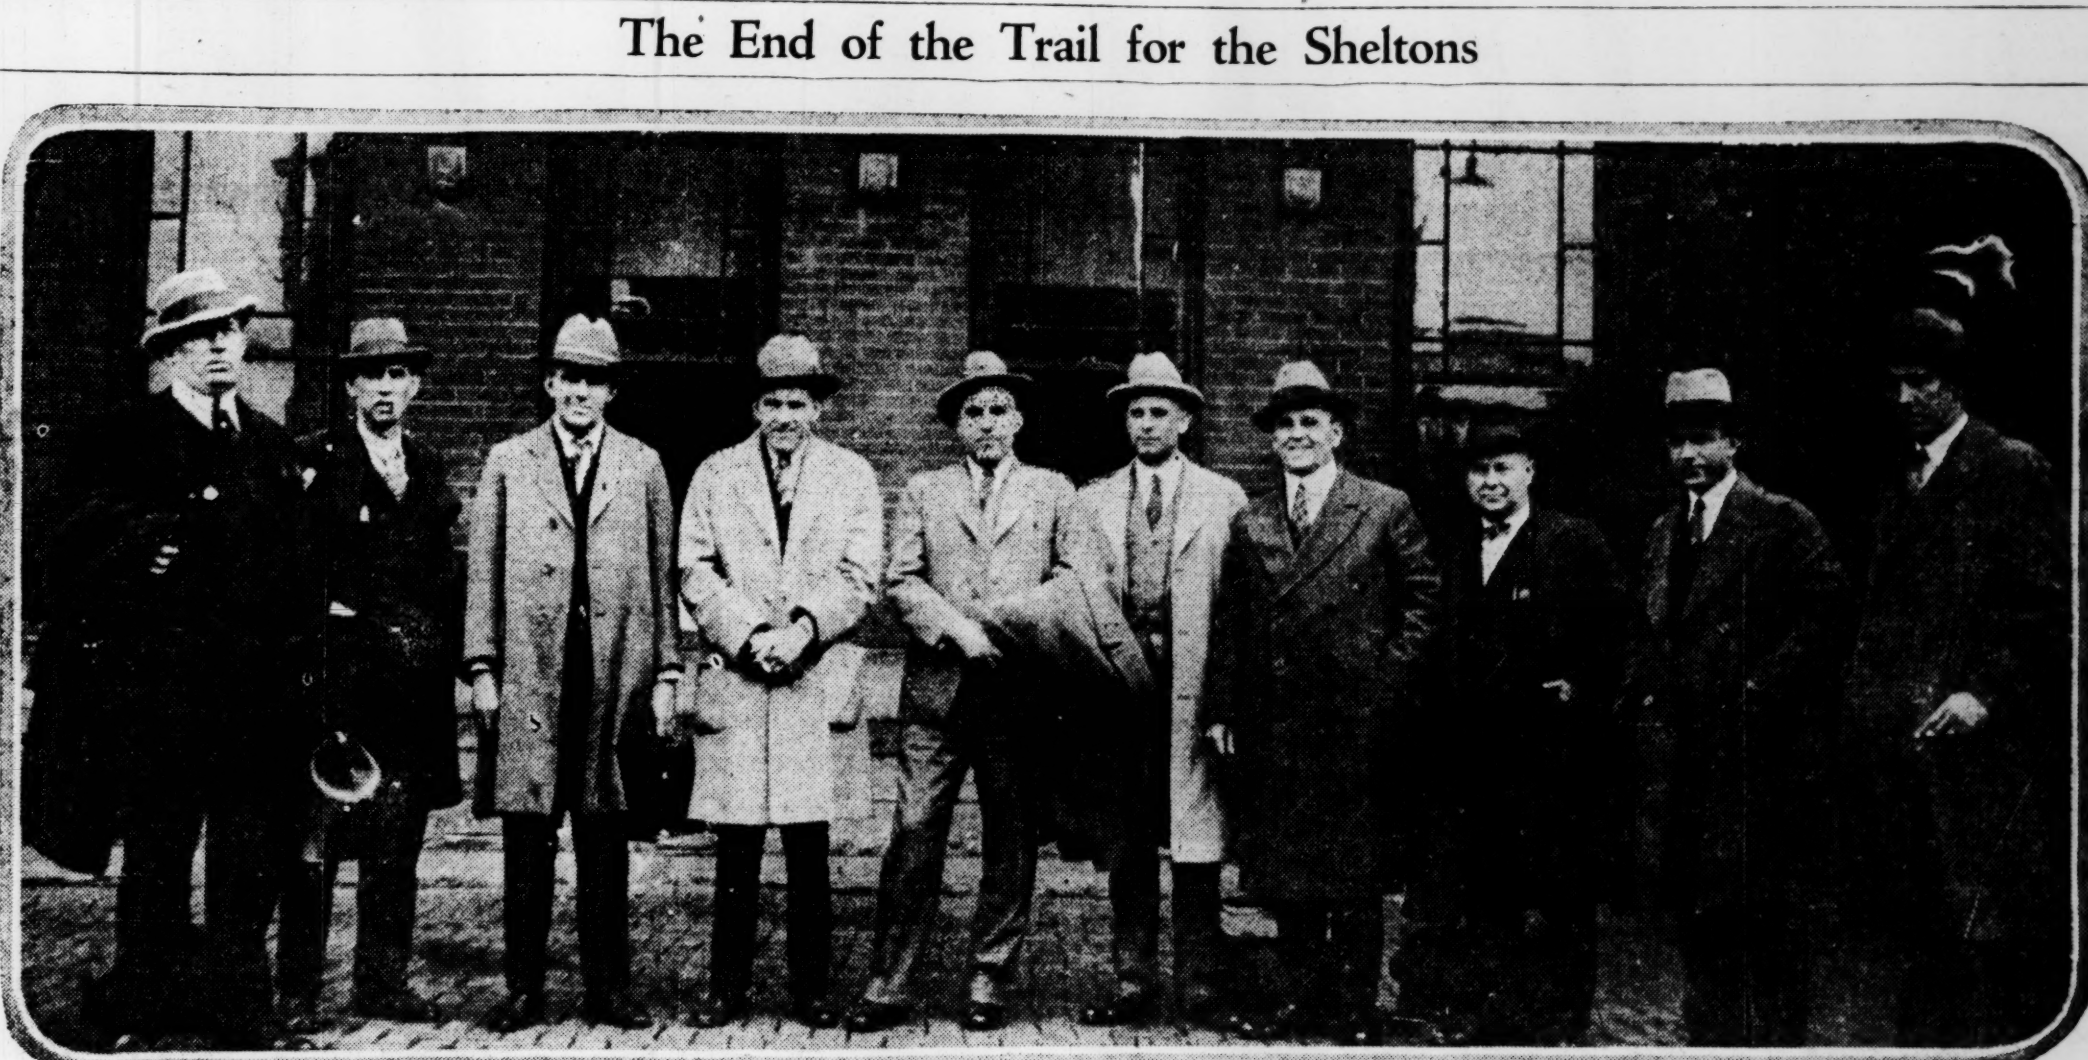

"Then Bernie came to the phone. That was how we know that Bernie, at least, was in West City, right on the edge of Benton. I got the P. O. men on the phone right away and they came down to Benton that night."

"They called on Deputy United States Marshal John Smith for help, and also Sheriff Henry Lewis and his Deputy, Jesse Lewis. Then they drove out to Joe Adams' and surrounded his house and his brother Gus' place."

"There were two or three Shelton gangsters on Joe's porch when Postoffice Inspectors Keefe, Thure and Casey walked inside the yard. In the meantime Joe came out on the porch with two pistols in his holsters."

"Well, Casey and Keefe went on over to the home of Gus, just a few feet away. As they went into the house Bernie was behind a stove with a pistol in his hand. Another Shelton gangster was also there with his pistol out."

"Inspector Keefe said, 'Bernie, I want you. I've got a warrant for you.' Bernie came out and handed over his pistol and a short time later they were loaded on the bus and on the way to East St. Louis, but before they left the Postoffice Inspectors bawled out the deputy

Lashing Your Eyes this may be you WISH! When you see a teamster brutally lashing his willing horse, you protest against such wanton cruelty.

BUT—what if you were unmercifully lashing your own willing eyes?

WITHOUT knowing it, you may be doing that very thing. True, you feel no discomfort. But—unconsciously the eyes are overtaxed and goaded into seeing well. It's like whipping a tired horse until he manages to pull the too heavy load.

NO one can escape the penalty. The effects of eyestrain are not all headaches, indigestion, mental depression and nervous exhaustion are warnings that your eyes are being whipped.

Slain Mayor and His Family Group

Joe Adams, of West City, who was killed by gangsters, is at the right. His brother, Gus Adams, and his sister, Mrs. Ernest Sanders are standing, while their mother, Mrs. Marshall Jones, is seated.

"High Pockets" McQuay, a bartender at "Shady Rest," was found in his front-coated Ford coupe on a lonely dirt road near Herrin. The car had been riddled with a machine gun and the lean "High Pockets" had been shot in the back about 19 times.

"High" went with a girl over in Herrin and her brother bummed around with the Shelton crowd," Newman said. "High" was the kind of guy that liked to go out the lot and the night before he was killed he went over to Herrin and took his mark to the Hippodrome picture show."

"We learned later that a bunch of Sheltons came to the show that night and told the door man to call 'High' to the door. In that crowd were Carl, Bernie and Earl Shelton, Ray Walker, 'Jardown' Armes, Jackie Sutherland and this girl's brother."

"But he wouldn't come out, and after a while he and his girl slipped out some other way and got to the home of her mother. Then her brother, the Shelton gangster, came in and told 'High' he had better beat it because the Sheltons were after him. I guess that boy didn't want to see his sister's fellow shot right in her house."

"While 'High' was there, the Sheltons rode by in some machines and this girl's brother said, 'Mother, if that bunch knew 'High' was in their car, what wouldn't happen to us?' Well, anyhow, 'High' drove off in his Ford coupe and the Shelton gang got him about three miles out of town. There were 15 machine gun bullet holes in the back of his machine. He never had a chance."

Joe Adams Under Suspicion.
The Birger gang, Newman said, suspected that Joe Adams, the 360-pound gambler-Mayor of West City in Franklin County, and an ally of the Shelton brothers, had a hand in the McQuay killing or its planning.

"A couple of weeks after High got killed," Newman said, "Adams stopped a young kid on the square in Benton and began to beat him for something or other."

"You'll get the same medicine as McQuay got if you carry tales on us," he told that kid, and we that gangsters dynamited Joe Adams' house on one occasion, and machine-gunned Gus Adams' home on another. Newman, Ritter and Wooten disclaimed any knowledge of those raids, which Adams charged to the Birger gang. To the huge Mayor they were but warnings of the sudden end that was to be his.

He made his last ponderous appearance on the stage of the gang fight on Dec. 12. On that day, a fine Sunday afternoon which had brought scores of West City's townsfolk out for strolls within sight of the Adams home, Big Joe was called from his nap by his wife.

"There are two boys at the door that say they've got a letter from Carl," she told him. Joe got to his feet and made his way to the front door where two men were waiting for him.

"Here's a letter for you," one of them said, smiling. As Joe sleepily took the note the two men whipped out pistols and began firing pointblank at the Mayor.

"Oh, my God," Joe cried out, and fell to the floor. He died within the hour. His slayers ran from the front porch to a waiting machine and sped down the hard road.

Did Not Know Slayers.

At the inquest, Mrs. Adams declared she did not know the slayers of her husband—had never seen them before. She gave only a meager description of them. She was certain of one thing, however—that Charlie Birger had called her husband, time and time again, on the telephone, and threatened him with death. She also related that Birger and his gang had once popped in front of Joe's house and Birger had threatened to kill him if he did not stop harboring the Sheltons.

The letter given by the two men to Adams was signed "C. S." apparently to make Mrs. Adams believe Carl Shelton wrote it. If she opened it before calling Joe from his nap, it purported to introduce "these two boys" and stated the writer had known their father. After the shooting, Gus Adams, Joe's brother, took the letter and made an effort to trace the handwriting, but failed to do so.

Later a warrant for the murder was issued against Charlie Birger, although Mrs. Adams knew him by sight and was sure he was not one of the two slayers. Presumably the Franklin authorities based the issuance of the warrant upon evidence which showed Birger had planned the killing.

In any event, Birger promptly announced he would not surrender. Sheriff Pritchard and Coleman of Franklin and Williamson Counties gathered a force of men one day and went to Saline County to get Sheriff Turner to serve the warrant on Birger. Turner told him of the warrant, but did not make the arrest, and no one since has had the temerity to arrest him. In relating his story to the Post-Dispatch, Newman declared that at the time of the murder, he and Connie Ritter were in a drug store at Marion, some 20 miles away. Birger, they said, was still farther away at "Shady Rest" when Adams was killed.

Price Notified Birger.

Newman said Birger was conferring at the time with a prohibition agent who was to launch a cleanup in Williamson County and incidentally got many helpful hints from Birger. The news of the Adams murder, Newman said, was carried to Birger by "Slim" Price, the State motor cycle patrolman, the most recent gang war victim, whose body was found at Dubois, Ill., last Saturday, more than two weeks after he had been abducted from his home.

"Slim" told Charlie to tell the boys at the cabin to be on guard because he understood the Sheltons were coming down to take the place," Newman said.

"Of course, we didn't shed any tears about Adams getting killed. We all had a drink on it and if we had known who shot him we would have bought them a drink, too."

Freddie Wooten declared he was in East St. Louis at the time of the Adams shooting.

"Look Out for Number One."

$50,000.00 Contest prize winning true story

IN True Story Magazine for March appears the most powerful true story ever written.

It is a tale so outstandingly different, so virile, so potent with truth and life and love and conflict, so deeply moving, so powerfully compelling that by unanimous decision of the judges it was awarded the first prize in the mammoth $50,000 true story contest recently conducted by True Story Magazine in which upwards of fifty thousand manuscripts were received from all over the world.

A Tale of the Cumberland Mountains

It is a story of the city and of the wilderness. Of a gently reared girl accustomed to the refinement and culture of genteel city life set abruptly down amid the Kentucky lumber camps, there to be swept off her feet, blinded to the realities of life, by forces over which she had no control. Of a community of rough-hewn mountain folk rent asunder by the coming among them of a girl whose sweet dignity and reserve, whose stylish mode of dress, everything about her so different from the girls they knew, aroused in the hearts of the river men and lumber jacks a raging storm of conflict.

A tale of rushing, log-jammed streams. Of primitive passions surging in the breasts of men who feared neither God, nor man, nor devil. Who constantly courted violent death as a part of each day's work. A tale of tears and blood and tragedy, of hate and love and jealousy. Of a titanic battle for a bewildered woman's heart. While over all hung the dread menace of the double-bitted ax, one blade of which was red. It is entitled "Stronger Than Death."

The Author A World War Veteran

Written by Mr. H. M. Sutherland, world war veteran and resident of a Virginia town in the foot-hills of the Cumberland Mountains, it is the tragic drama that befell one of his dearest friends, Margery, about whom the story revolves, did not feel that she could do the story justice. The events were all too recent—so close that her perspective was lost. But she told it all to Mr. Sutherland. And he in turn, using rare discrimination out of his sympathy and understanding, has set down what is without doubt the most powerful true story ever written. Not a pretty story. Powerful stories rarely are. But a deeply moving story, a gripping story, an epic tale told just as it was lived. Easily the outstanding story of all the fifty thousand received in the greatest true story contest ever conducted. It would be a shame indeed, if you were not to read it.

You will find it in True Story Magazine for March, now on sale, at all newsstands.

The Author Says:

"Stronger Than Death" is an account of the tragic experience that befell a dear friend when she, a girl of culture and refinement, accepted the position as teacher in a mission school deep in the fastnesses of the Cumberland Mountains.

"I have written in the first person, first because the rules of the contest require that all stories submitted be in the first person, and second because I have set it down so nearly the way she herself told it to me that I feel justified in presenting it as coming from her own lips."

H. M. Sutherland.

from the depths of whose grief-stricken heart comes this lonely cry.

"John Devignet still pleads with me to marry him and take me away from the hills and the drudgery of teaching the little mission school, but it seems to me that the duties have been taken from my hands by fate. I want to go with—oh, God, I'd give my soul to go, for I love him with the fibre of my being, but I can't drive away the pictures of George's wistful, athen, hopeless, pleading face, across that tawny rent of spray and logs.

"I've tried to forget, but the memory clings too vividly. I that I must sacrifice my happiness in atonement for the death that I have done?"

GEORGE ELLIS

Tall, diffident with strangers, slow of speech, this "Boss" of the lumbermen was also big and handsome. And one of the fearless, most daring men that ever swung an ax or rode the log in the boiling current of the treacherous river. His word was law among his men. But could he make it carry weight with a woman—and such a woman as Margery?

JOHN DEVIGNET

College-bred, son of the owner of the logging operation, Devignet represented a side of life of which George Ellis was but little. When he came to the logging camps as general superintendent, the men were prepared to laugh at him as a dandy who would quake at every shadow. But they found he could take care of himself in war or love.

3 SEEK MAYORALTY
IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Thirty-Six Aspire to Nomination as Commissioners; 13 for Police Judgeship.

Three candidates for the office of Mayor, 26 for City Commissioner and 13 for Police Magistrate, compose the field in the city primary election of East St. Louis, to be held Feb. 22. Yesterday was the last day to file petitions.

Under the commission form of government each candidate runs independent of political alignments. Neither party organization has publicly endorsed any candidate.

Four years ago the present administration, Mayor M. M. Stephens and Commissioners Michael Whalen, John T. Connors, M. Paul Murray and Ralph Cook, who are candidates for re-election, were elected with the Klan issue predominant. No major issues have yet appeared in the campaign.

Frank Doyle, president of the Home Ice Cream Co. and M. J. Harris, a real estate dealer of 638 Post place, are opposing Stevens for the nomination. Two are to be nominated. Eight Commissioners are to be chosen at the primary and four to be elected.

Candidates for Commissioner are:

George Janner, 1517 Winstanley avenue; Mathew A. Cleary, 1629 Kansas avenue; George Kimme Jr., 815 South Tenth street; William R. O'Leary, 556A Veronica avenue; James W. Man Slain on Freight Train.
CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 8.—A bullet wound through his head, the body of a man was found on top of a freight car at Mounds by Lowell Thum, inspector in the Illinois Central Railroad yards. Papers identified the man as Hubert C. Bankston, 24 years old, and showed that he was discharged from the Twenty-third Infantry at Fort Sam Houston, Feb. 2 after serving the regular three-year enlistment. He had enlisted at Oklahoma City, giving his home as Hydro, Ok. The man had been dead about six hours when found. Authorities believe he was murdered on the train between Memphis and Cairo.

Do You Like Good Coffee?

Coffee can't build skyscrapers but a good man can. And many a good man could do more in the morning if the day began with real good coffee—tasteful, hot, inspiring. And our friends, if they are newly met—isn't our opinion of them often formed when they serve us an insipid concoction masquerading as coffee?

Coffee can be good—regularly good if an electric percolator does the brewing—for in the electric percolator the coffee really makes itself and, as often as served, is uniformly delicious. With skyscrapers and friends reflected in a cup of coffee—and that's human, let's by all means serve it as good as it is possible to make it.

Taking The Lead and Holding It in Real Estate Advertising

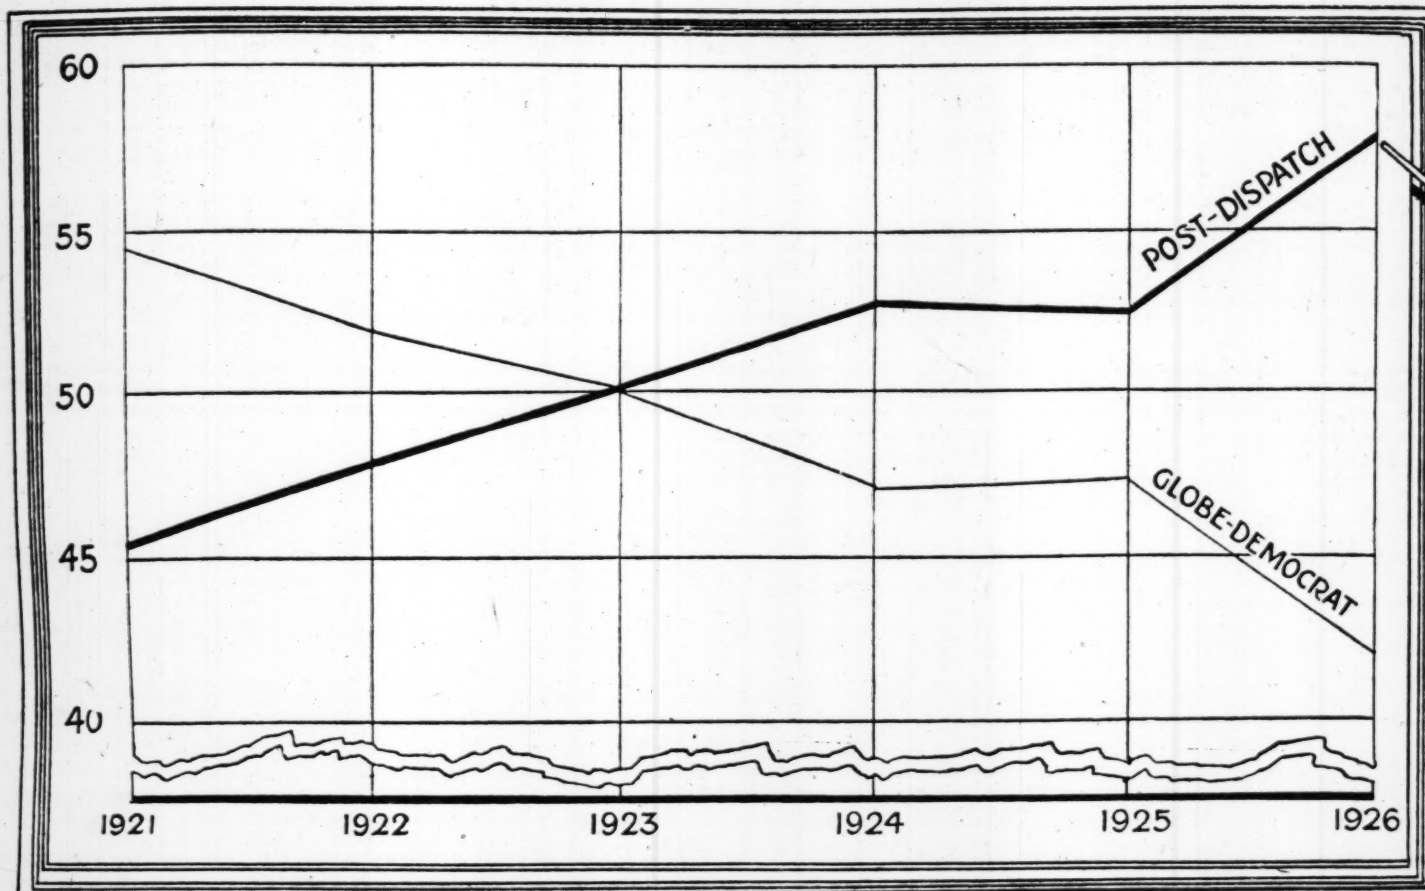

Chart showing percentage of Total Real Estate Advertising carried by each of the TWO seven-day news papers during each year from 1921 to 1926, inclusive.

How Precedent Gave Way to Performance

In 1923 the Post-Dispatch, for the first time in history, took first place in Real Estate advertising with a lead of 7080 lines over the morning newspaper. Even that small lead was an achievement, considering the fact that the morning newspaper had led in this class of advertising for a quarter of a century.

In 1924 the Post-Dispatch was first in Real Estate advertising with a lead of 142,020 lines over the morning newspaper.

In 1925 the Post-Dispatch increased its lead to 150,960 lines—still further emphasizing the supremacy of the Post-Dispatch in Real Estate advertising.

In 1926 the Post-Dispatch carried 2,089,920 lines of Real Estate advertising, increasing its lead over the Globe-Democrat to 576,120 lines—thus establishing on a permanent basis the supremacy of the Post-Dispatch as St. Louis' One Big Real Estate advertising medium.

Real Estate Advertisers in St. Louis have definitely broken away from "precedent"—which is often a dangerous guide—and have joined that great group of successful modern advertisers in other lines who Concentrate their advertising in the

STRIBLING BEATS HUFFMAN BUT FAILS TO SHOW UP AS HEAVYWEIGHT HOPE

22-Year-Old Georgian, With 175 Fights in His Record, Still Lacks Punch

Manager Walk Miller's Advance Stuff About Change to an Aggressive Mauler Proves to Be Another False Alarm.

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—William Lawrence Stribling, of Macon, Ga., will never battle for the world's heavyweight championship. Especially prepared under special trainers for several months, Stribling on parade in last night's Madison Square Garden elimination with Sailor Eddie Huffman as his foe, stripped like a lion and lashed like the lamb he is, winner after ten rounds, but eliminated from all hope of ever measuring up to championship standards by the showing he made.

In 10 rounds of battling against determined but inferior fighter, Stribling failed to meet in any respect the advance publicity sent out about his rejuvenation. He displayed extreme agility and speed, but nothing else that entitles a fighter to the ring-side honors.

Constantly retreating before his rugged, blond foe, Stribling stabbed him with his left hand often enough to gain a long margin on points. But the killing wallop and the aggressive fighting that his new manager, Walk Miller, had predicted for him were totally wanting. As ever, Stribling showed the same old safety-first fighter, ready to take cover at the first sign of distress. The lamb that was to have proved a lion showed he had developed into nothing more formidable than a sheep.

The fans saw Miller's joke. Sensing the possibilities of the fight, the New York crowd declined to fall heavily for the contest. At starting time not more than a half-filled arena surrounded Fox Rickard's up-to-date ring, with its four-minute clock, its red-leather round-signals and automatic second counter. At 10 p.m. ring-side seat, New York remembered a Stribling of old and declined to be lured out by the handshakes of William Lawrence's new manager, Walk Miller.

Miller had gone to special pains to let it be known that the new Stribling had turned thumbs down on Stribling after his poor fight with Berlenbach here some months ago, would take to his bosom the new Stribling. Miller declared him a full-fledged heavyweight, that he had abandoned all safety-first tactics and had become a Dempsey for aggressiveness and punch.

But from the very first his predictions proved false. When the weights were announced both men weighed the same—175 pounds. Miller had declared his man weighed over 185 pounds all muscle.

There is this to be said for Stribling. When he threw off his robe and prepared for action, he was in as nearly perfect physical condition as one could wish. Huffman, too, was a fine condition.

The Same Old Rabbit. The fun began well. Stribling, as if to show that he could ring without clinching, avoided all holding and tried to fight at long range. He was good at this. But instead of the forward-fighting, aggressive boxer one had been led to expect, he was the same old rabbit.

On the contrary, the later rounds found Huffman gaining new courage and carrying the battle stronger than ever because Stribling would not press his own advantage at the finish, although the margin was plainly Stribling's. The crowd was yelling for Huffman, but the judges rightly refused to see it that way.

Success as an Elimination. As an elimination fight it was a great success. Stribling eliminated two candidates for championship honors at one effort—Huffman and himself.

So the fight apparently brings to a close the excitement over one of the most promising looking heavyweights the game has known. Although only 22 years old, Stribling was hardly slimmer and bigger than he can hope to reach title class is hard to believe.

Stribling began fighting at the age of 15. In the seven years that have elapsed since first he donned the gloves, he has fought 175 fights. He has fought as many as 40 battles in one year. He is now saying the piper. He showed in the way he fared after six rounds, last night, that he is burned out. They lit his candle too early in life.

On the preliminary card was Sully Montgomery and Pat McCarthy.

5373 Attendance and $15,715 Gate At Garden Bout

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—PUNCHING remains the magnet to draw people to fights. Young Stribling has failed always to show real punching ability and the boxing fans' dissatisfaction with his type is reflected in the small attendance at the Stribling-Huffman bout here last night, when only 5373 persons paid at the gate, one of the slimmest of recent Garden crowds. The receipts were $15,715.

He proved just the same old "rabbit" of yore. He backed away as Huffman stepped at him, his right arm held high across his chest and his long left arm hanging full length, limp at his side, after the manner of Pat Moore, the world's powderpuff hitting champion.

As for Huffman, he is comparatively a newcomer, but he is not ready for high flights and, unless he takes on more weight, he probably never will be. He has a better brand of fighting heart than Stribling and might carry on farther if he knew his boxing stuff as well as Stribling.

So far as the immediate championship tournament is concerned, both can be forgotten.

As Huffman advanced, Stribling whipped up that left with lightning speed and cut his foe repeatedly. He held his right close to his body and hardly used it at all.

With the advantage of speed, reach and boxing skill, the crowd wondered why he did not carry the fight. But he refused to do this throughout save for one or two fitful flashes which netted nothing.

Round after round saw Stribling flicking his foot lightly with left hand and holding his right back as if it were hurt. The crowd feared him. It was nearly the end of the fourth round before he finally found courage (or something) to unleash his right hand. Over it came in a snappy right cross to Huffman's jaw.

The crowd hoped for something to crack. But it wasn't Huffman. The Los Angeles fighter, waded right in for more, as if the "knock-out right" was nothing more than a love tap.

Except for Flash in Fifth Round, Fight Is a Slow, Dismal Affair

In the fifth round Stribling woke up and jolted Huffman hard with lefts and rights. This time he had edged Huffman. He followed it up and let fly with the best he had. But there was no weight behind it. He hadn't the stuff and the round ended with Huffman crowding after his foe.

Then the fight went into the drab and dismal reaches of its fighting with Huffman doing most of the mauling and Stribling trying to live up to his promise not to hold. But nature can't be deceived. The rabbit who would be a bulldog is still a rabbit. Notwithstanding that it was plain to everyone that he had something on Huffman and nothing to fear, he still refused to press his advantage.

On the contrary, the later rounds found Huffman gaining new courage and carrying the battle stronger than ever because Stribling would not press his own advantage at the finish, although the margin was plainly Stribling's. The crowd was yelling for Huffman, but the judges rightly refused to see it that way.

Reiselt Runs 15 in Two Innings, Beats Hall, 50-48

St. Louis Three-Cushion Star Leads, 47 to 35 When Defending Champion Starts Drive—Cuban Wins, But Game Is Order of Replay.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—The closest battle of his defense of the title left Otto Reiselt, three-cushion billiard champion, still in the lead today in the national tournament.

He defeated Allen Hall, St. Louis youngster, 50 to 48 last night by the remarkable runs of three, six and nine points in three of his last four innings. Fight on his heels is Augie Kieckhefer, a former champion, with four victories to five for Reiselt.

The first protest of the tournament took a victory away from Raimundo Campanioni, Cuban star, when the Managing Committee of the matches ordered his 50-48 victory over Tiff Denton of Kansas City replayed.

Cue Touches Ball. For his thirteenth point, the smiling little Cuban touched both object balls with his cue ball before he completed the three cushion shot. The referee, Charles McElligott, failed to see the cue brush the red ball, although the crowd protested loudly when he awarded the Cuban the point. Campanioni also failed to see the error, but requested the committee to order the match replayed. If there were any questions about his victory.

One Cueball of Detroit, another former champion, climbed into the top of the third place with his third straight victory, when Art Thurblad, Chicago youngster, met his defeat of the tournament at the hands of Charles McCourt of Cleveland.

Reiselt's Great Game. Hall, leading Reiselt 47 to 35 after 50 innings, appeared to be a certain and decisive winner. When Hall added another point to make his total 48, the very much alarmed national champion inspired his cue to run six straight and in the next frame fairly dazzled the on-lookers by running nine more, to snatch victory away from the St. Louisan.

The contest was slow, with the lead changing frequently until the fortieth inning when Hall came up from behind to make 10 points in three innings and leap into a nine-point advantage over Reiselt. Reiselt, in the meantime, had been playing a lethargic and indifferent game, registering a string of eight zeros while the young St. Louis aspirant was increasing his lead to a top-heavy 45 to 31 in the forty-eighth frame.

Reiselt's high run was nine. Hall's was five.

Garrison Finish Marks Veteran's Billiard Play

John Gomes, Seemingly Beaten, Runs Four to Defeat Philip Cohn.

A contest of the keenest sort marked the opening yesterday of the second annual Perpetual Youth Billiard tournament at C. C. Peterson's parlor.

John Gomes, shooting for 15, emerged victor over Philip Cohn, playing for 45, by the count of 15 to 44. But mere statement of the result doesn't tell half of what happened.

Participation in this tourney is restricted to men 70 or more years old. Each of the men in the opening match is 81.

Players of this age might not be expected to put much snap in their game. But the Gomes-Cohn game was as good as any competition could be.

Cohn Early Leader. In the early stages, Cohn clicked off billiards regularly and it seemed that he might be a runaway winner. He frequently made clusters of three and even got up to four in a single inning, and usually left his opponent very difficult shots. As a result Gomes had to be content with an occasional point and a lot of "close misses."

It came to where Cohn, after running two, needed one to end the match and had the balls close together. But his cue ball, rebounding from the rail, rolled just a little bit away from a score.

Gomes needed four billiards and when talk among the spectators—there really was a crowd—began to center on "Garrison finish" and a run of four, the white-haired player remarked that "That was easy."

A "Garrison Finish." He made a difficult shot, and there was applause. Then came another billiard on a follow shot and his stock went up. He made the third straight point and with each player needing one to win, the balls seemed to be hopelessly "sawed up." But, driving hard against the chest ball, Gomes went the length of the table, rebounded from the side and hit the third ball, frozen against the other end rail, "right in the nose." It was a brilliant shot, meant a high run of four and won the match.

It was a fine display of nerve against great odds.

Today at 3 p. m. J. M. Alexander will play F. W. Holmes in the second match of the tourney.

St. L.U. Freshmen Clinch Flag in Muny Division

Werners and Leacocks Clash Tomorrow Night in Critical Cage Contest.

The St. Louis University Freshmen clinched the championship of the Monday Night Open Division of the Municipal Basketball League last night by beating the St. Louis Turners for their ninth straight victory. The score was 50 to 14.

Although playing without the services of Boyle, regular guard who has been declared ineligible, the young Billikens worked smoothly and baffled their opponents with clever floorwork.

Another divisional championship will be at stake tomorrow night at the St. Louis University gymnasium when the Leacocks play the Werners in a critical cage contest in the Wednesday Night Open Division.

The Billikens freshmen and the Wednesday Night contenders are looked upon as the most likely candidates for the city title. Last night's box score and summary:

HOWLEY GIVES UP HOPE OF SIGNING COBB

Durst and Joe Giard Sent to New York and Gene Robertson to St. Paul in Deal.

Dan Howley, manager of the Browns, announced in a telegram to the Post-Dispatch this afternoon that he had traded pitcher Joe Cobb to the New York Yankees for Gene Robertson to St. Paul. Howley said he was not expecting to see Cobb in a Browns uniform again.

Cobb is a right-hander, 34 years old, and has pitched in the major leagues for 12 years. He has won 16 games and lost 12. He has pitched in the Browns' rotation for the last two years.

OFFER OF $50,000 FAILS TO LAND COBB

By John E. Wray, Sports Editor, the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Dan Howley, manager of the Browns, has given up hope of landing Ty Cobb for the St. Louis American League club. Dan this morning showed a written offer of $50,000 that he had made to the Georgia Peach, but he admitted that the offer was not enough to land the services of the great star for the 1927 season.

Cobb will have to make the announcement. Howley said: "He'll probably give a story to the Philadelphia papers tonight." That was as far as Howley would go and the only interpretation possible is that Ty Cobb has decided to line up with Connie Mack and the Athletics. Ty wants to have "one more big year" and with the Athletics near pennant strength. Ty probably figures that he may have the honor of closing his great baseball career in a world series.

Mack's Offer About $65,000.
Mack's offer was double what he has paid any player or manager in the past, but still it was not enough to equal Connie Mack's offer to the Yankees in the trade of Scott and Bush for Quinn.

Howley said he believed that the addition of a hitting punch, such as Cobb may furnish, will about put him over the top. As a result he has forgotten his hitherto canny tactics in finances and has thrown down the bars. There is $15,000 more difference between the St. Louis and Philadelphia bids, which would bring Mack's offer to about $65,000. Cobb last year as player

ARTIE EILERS NAMED PRESIDENT OF MUNY ROWING ASSOCIATION

Artie Eilers, graduate manager of athletics at Washington University, was named president of the Municipal Rowing Association last night at a meeting at the Laclede Hotel. Eilers is a member of the Century Boat Club and has been prominent for many years in athletic circles.

He succeeds William Benthage, who has headed the organization since its beginning but who has been forced to retire for business reasons.

Other officers elected were: Jack Weis, vice president; Miss Beatrice Widdicombe, secretary and treasurer; Fred C. Mueller, representative to the central council; Eilers, Mueller and Jack Grosse, members of the Executive Committee.

The meeting decided to split the annual regatta into a two-day affair, running the junior events one day and the senior races next day.

and manager was reported to be receiving $45,000. As Cobb has announced his intention to remain in the game only one year, most managers of American League clubs consider he is a poor investment at this high figure, except possibly when with a top rank team. With such a club he would mean much at the gate.

Hornsbey Case Unchanged.
The matter of Hornsbey's stock continues to worry the New York scribbles, but it hasn't bothered either Breardon or Hornsbey, apparently. Although Hornsbey's attorney, William Fahey, came East with him, they say this had no significance. Breardon and Hornsbey have not conferred. Hornsbey said the matter of selling his stock was not brought up at any baseball conversation here except informally. He denies that President Stoneham of the Giants has any thought of intervening for him in the purchase. His sole purpose in coming to New York was to accept an invitation of the Baseball Writers' Association to attend their annual banquet Sunday night, he says.

Hornsbey was in conference yesterday with Judge Landis, but apparently it had no significance. "Just a friendly call," the Judge explained. Fahey and Hornsbey said the same.

It is known, however, that the subject of Hornsbey's stock came up and that Hornsbey was asked if he must get rid of it. Hornsbey had another conference on the same subject with President Heydler of the National League, but nothing was announced. Evidently the Committee on Ways and Means is endeavoring to find some way out of the impasse which confronts Rogers and to save him his stock at as near the book value as possible.

Hornsbey was also a listener-in at two lectures on the subject of gambling. Judge Landis gave him a little conversation on the side about the folly of betting on the thing. President Heydler also hoped that Rogers would abstain from the police.

Drake Defeats Washington U. In Valley Game

Score Is 25 to 22; Missouri Beats Grinnell Pioneers, 20 to 16.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 8.—Washington University had a tight grip on another Valley Conference basketball victory in its game with Drake here last night, but had to let go in the last few minutes of play when the locals overcame a 5-point lead and shot their way to a 25-to-22 victory over the Bears.

Shortly before the contest closed the Bears were leading, 22 to 16, after being behind at the half, 14 to 11. Then Myers bagged a field goal and a free throw and Parsho contributed two baskets to put Drake in the lead. Ebert Drake to end the floor game.

Washington plays Oklahoma at St. Louis Friday and Oklahoma A. & M. on Saturday.

Tigers Trim Grinnell, 20-16.
Special to the Post-Dispatch. GRINNELL, Ia., Feb. 8.—The Missouri Tigers won from the Grinnell Pioneers last night in a fast game, 20 to 16, after leading at the half, 11 to 6. Led by Chase, who sank a couple of pretty shots, Grinnell started a rally in the second period and tied the score with 10 minutes of play. Missouri then substituted their first team for the reserves and held the Pioneers scoreless for the rest of the game.

Lineup and summary:
GRINNELL: Chase, rf., 1; Coughlin, lf., 2; Niblo, c., 3; Davis, 1b., 4; Hall, 2b., 5; Totals, 20-16.
MISSOURI: Baughman, rf., 1; Rube, lf., 2; Jones, 1b., 3; Hamilton, c., 4; Sullivan, 2b., 5; Welch, 3b., 6; Womack, 4b., 7; Coach, 8; Totals, 25-22.

Getting Loaded for Bears.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. STILLWATER, Ok., Feb. 8.—Greatly encouraged by their weekend triumphs over the Kansas Aggies and Nebraska, the Oklahoma Aggie basketball team began yesterday a three-day grind of court work in preparation for Missouri Valley games with Missouri at Columbia Friday and Washington at St. Louis Saturday. A defeat in the first game of the season against Grinnell is all that keeps the Aggies from a tie with Oklahoma University for leadership of the conference.

Rickey to Make Tour of Camps

Cardinal Business Manager to Spend Ten Days or More at Avon Park, Fla.

Branch Rickey, vice-president and business manager of the Cardinals, announced this morning that he would depart for the world champions' spring training camp either with the second squad or a few days later, to spend 10 days or two weeks watching the training of the Cardinals prior to making a tour of the Cardinals in which the St. Louis club is interested.

JACK DEMPSEY OUT OF DANGER

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—Jack Dempsey, former world's champion heavyweight boxer, is reported recovering rapidly from blood poisoning in his left hand and arm which caused his serious illness Saturday. Mrs. Dempsey, the former Etelle Taylor, today said her husband was out of danger. The swelling in the former champion's hand has virtually disappeared. A scratch on a finger, received while Dempsey and his wife were touring to San Francisco, caused the infection.

Fidel LaBarba's Manager, Known As a "Softy" Protects His Charge

George Blake, Reasonable in Purse Demands, Declines to Overwork His Fighter, Figuring One Fight a Month Is Enough.

By Fairplay.
(Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—George Blake who manages Fidel LaBarba is not an ordinary fight manager. And the world champion flyweight should be thankful that this is so.

Blake has his own ideas about the care of a fighter and judging from the way he has piloted Fidel into the title and looked after him his ways are sane.

For one thing, Blake does not think that a hotel is the proper place to house his fighter. He prefers a private apartment and since the pair came East they have had private quarters. Also Blake is not avaricious. As titleholder LaBarba commands a good guarantee with 37½ per cent of the receipts, Blake is satisfied with this.

Blake is careful to keep his fighter in the best sort of condition and knows how to do it.

Fidel will make his Boston debut when he tackles the tough little bantam, Johnny Vacca. The title will not be at stake because Vacca cannot pare down to 112 pounds. A promoter asked for LaBarba's services on a date falling two weeks after the Vacca fight, but Blake refused. He refuses to overwork his young charge and will not let him do battle more than once a month. This is a refreshing variation from the tactics of most managers who grab all they can and let the fighter weather rough going as best he can.

Again Blake takes no chances on his boy's condition. He has steadfastly refused to sign for a bout until he sees how his fighter has fared in a bout for which he is already contracted. Some of the older heads in the game put Blake down as a "softy." Maybe he is and maybe he isn't. The writer himself has been through the mill and he has a feeling for the punch absorber. How many managers have realized that after

Paul Berlenbach Hangs Up Gloves

Former World Champion Quits Boxing Game to Enter Lumber Business.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Paul Berlenbach, former world light-heavyweight champion, who was recently beaten by Mike McTigue in four rounds, announced his retirement from the ring today to enter the lumber business.

"Oom Paul," "The Astoria Assassin," belted his way from the amateur ranks to a world championship in five years.

He abandoned a wrestling career in 1921 for boxing at the instigation of Dan Hickey, his manager. He rapidly acquired a startling knockout record, bowling over 13 opponents while fighting his way to the national amateur championship in 1922. After turning professional in 1923, he knocked out his first 10 opponents. Jack Delaney, present world light-heavyweight champion, defeated him in 1924. He came back, however, to win the championship from Mike McTigue in 1925, and successfully defended his title against Delaney the same year. Last July, however, Delaney defeated him for the crown in a 15-round decision bout at Ebbets Field.

Brown Brothers
Of Washington U.
All IneligibleThree Six-Footers, Football and Track Men, Have Scholastic Troubles.

Ineligibility for participation in athletics of the three Brown brothers, six-footers all, was announced today by Athletic Director Bill Edmunds of Washington University. Difficulty in scholastic work was given as the reason.

The Brown brothers—Frank, 6 feet 6; Clarence, 6 feet 3, and Walter, 6 feet 1—were heralded as a promising trio when they entered the university in the fall of 1935. All were valued as football players and Walter was on the varsity last season. All were considered fine prospects for the track team, also.

While the barring of the Browns spread gloom over the Pikeaway campus, Dr. Edmunds finds solace in otherwise bright prospects for a good track team. When Edmunds recently took over the duties of track coach, he expected a squad of not more than 30 candidates. However, he has more than 200 enrolled for daily practice. The size of the turnout will necessitate dividing the athletes into groups.

Likely Looking Recruits.

Among the newer recruits to come into prominence are a pair of hurdlers, Van Benthuysen, former Webster Groves star, and Bradley, a sophomore. It is possible, too, that Lorraine Eckert, varsity quarter-mile, may also be given a trial over the hurdles when the basketball season closes.

In addition to Carl Benz, letterman, a set of middle distance men seems to be shaping itself with promise. Sam Clippert, an Arkansas product, is showing well with John McCarroll, now on the basketball trip to Iowa, ranking as an excellent possibility for the runs. In the half-mile, the best bet appears to be Thies Lohring, another basketball player, who led the freshman field men last year.

At Hayes in Broad Jump.

At Hayes, who won his laurels at quarterback for the Bears, has reported for practice in the running broad jump. Jack McDonald, captain of the team and pole vaulter, may also add this event to his repertory.

In the high jump, Cal Ledbetter, letterman, is going to have difficulty holding his own against A. G. Wiedeman and Bradley. Ledbetter cleared six feet consistently last year.

Among the dash men, William Mansfield and Darcy Allen, both seniors, stand out as do also two sophomores, Ray Faltone and B. L. Green.

A shot putter has appeared in Charles Glazer while Ted Whittier, Bear fullback, will also try his ability with the 16-pound iron. Ralph Kurz, basketball and football star, will also contribute to the weight events. Kurz gets fair distance with the shot and is an excellent javelin thrower.

Delaney Is Favorite.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Jack Delaney is an 8 to 5 favorite to defeat Jimmy Maloney in Madison Square Garden Feb. 18.

14 ARRESTED AS MEMBERS OF WHOLESALE NARCOTIC RING

Federal Agents Take Prisoners in Three-Day Drive Sent by Mail and Express.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—What is described as one of the largest wholesale narcotic rings ever discovered in the United States is thought to have been broken up by the arrest of 14 of its members in New York, two in Washington and one in Brooklyn by Federal narcotic agents, working under the direction of Ralph Oyer, chief of the Internal Narcotic Bureau in the New York district.

According to Oyer, the gang operating from this city flooded the country with drugs, sending illegal goods to purchasers—

BETTER HOUSING PLAN FOR NEGROES SOUGHT

Urban League Calls Attention to Perils to Public Health in Present Conditions.

Difficulty experienced by Negroes in finding proper and sufficient housing in St. Louis is discussed in the annual report for 1926 of John T. Clark, executive secretary of the Urban League, a social service organization for Negroes. He declares present conditions constitute a threat to public health. The report says:

"The Negro population has been steadily but more slowly increasing than in previous years. The dense Negro population in the commercial area east of Jefferson avenue is giving way before the advance of factories, business and commercial houses and large city improvements such as the widening of Olive street. Although the population is continually shifting, the only district that shows signs of very rapid expansion is the Garfield district, which has been approved by the Board of Health. The housing situation among Negroes in St. Louis is highly unsatisfactory. Many houses built a generation ago, now crowded with Negroes, give outward evidence of being substantial but are mere hells for which inordinate rents are paid. There is little escape from the situation because the organization of the Negro population is not so well advanced as that of the white population. The increase of the Negro population in these districts is not being accommodated by rehousing and the building of some creditable apartments and flats, many by Negroes.

MEMBER OF POLICE FORCE 45 YEARS DIES

Capt. James Johnson, 74, Succumbs at Oakland, Cal.—
Was Retired in 1925.

Funeral services for Capt. James Johnson, 74 years old, a retired member of the St. Louis Police Department, who died at Oakland, Cal., Sunday night of heart disease, will be held there, relatives residing here believe, due to ill-health of Mrs. Johnson.
Miss Emma Johnson, a sister, and several nieces and nephews of Capt. Johnson, residing here, have received no word of funeral arrangements, and believe Mrs. Johnson will not bring the body here, because of her condition.
Capt. "Dinmie" Johnson, as he was known to his associates, joined the force in 1880 at the age of 27. He was promoted from patrolman to Sergeant in 1882, was made a Lieutenant in 1899 and Captain in 1902. He served in various districts and obtained a confession from Albert Ellis that he had murdered his sweetheart, Edna Ellis. The Ellis case attracted general attention here and the youth was found guilty by a jury following trial in Circuit Court, but the case was reversed by the State Supreme Court, which held that the confession was inadmissible evidence. Ellis was acquitted at his second trial.
Capt. Johnson also served as Field Captain and Acting Night Chief of Police. He was retired in 1925 for physical disability, although maintaining that he was still the "youngest old man on the force." To prove his contention, the aged officer sold his home at 5210 Page boulevard last June and made an automobile tour to California with Mrs. Johnson. He became ill on the way and his death is attributed in part to the strain of the journey.

SUNDAY MOVIES ISSUE AT MOBERLY TODAY

Mayorality Primary Is Expected to Decide Spirited Contest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBERLY, Mo., Feb. 8.—With the city election today, the campaign has settled down in earnest with Sunday picture shows as the predominating issue, particularly in the Mayor's race.
Mayor J. M. Jeffries, a candidate for re-election, recently vetoed an ordinance passed by the City Council which would have permitted Sunday shows.

CO-LONICS

Have Dull Minds

MANY people know they are constipated, but do not know they have become CO-LONICS. Modern living conditions slow down the bowels, the colon becomes filled with millions of bacteria—intestinal toxins are thus being constantly absorbed. The result, headache, constipation, nervousness, edgy nerves, frequent colds, biliousness, sallow skin, pimples or a host of other ailments. Ask any doctor! And to know what a vast difference thorough bowel action makes just keep your colon cleansed for a few days with the safe dependable vegetable, laxative CO-LONIC treatment, Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). Has none of the gripping, disconcerting effects of cathartics and physics. Make a five-day test. Take one NR tablet each night for five days. See the poisons leave your body—your tongue clear up. Does a "YELLOW MASK" Hide your teeth's beauty?

Now, for the First Time, Dental Science Provides the Swift, Sure Way to Glistening White Teeth—Make this Simple Test

ONE THING you have always abhorred—that yellowish tinge on your teeth. Day after day, with one tooth paste or another, you have tried to remove it. But in vain... that unfashionable yellow hue has remained, unaffected!

The Cause—and Corrective

In your saliva is a "liquid cement". It glues to your teeth—then hardens. Hardens over the naturally white enamel like a glassy mask. The technical name for this condition is Calculus (stained tartar).

But here's the queer part about this enveloping mask—though glass-like, it is also absorbent! It drinks in food, tobacco and coffee stains like a blotter absorbing ink. And these discolor it—yellow.

Ordinary dentifrices cannot remove this unsightly, clinging mask. They glide right over it—like one piece of ice over another.

But there is a peculiar substance that will. Leading dentists use it in the cleaning of teeth. It is known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate". It erases that yellow mask, releases the natural whiteness and makes a tooth shine like a polished pearl. Still, it cannot scratch or injure the softest enamel.

Now in a Pleasant, Tasty Tooth Paste

But the great problem has been to incorporate "Tri-Calcium Phosphate" in a pleasant, tasty tooth paste. Only now has dental science succeeded. Which means that by using this new tooth paste you can have teeth white as glistening ivory! And so quickly, too!

The name of this marvelous preparation is ORPHOS TOOTH PASTE. Dentists everywhere recommend it—leading beauties use it. Make this test. Buy a tube of Orphos from your druggist. Or send the coupon below for a generous 20-Time Tube.

Expect These Magic Results

Note immediately the new lustre brought to your teeth from one brushing. And the absence of the usual soapy, acrid taste. Feel a new, refreshing coolness in the gums and thank eleven healing ingredients in ORPHOS for that pleasant sensation. Notice how it purifies and sweetens the breath—and how the delicious flavor lingers!

Don't keep your teeth's loveliness hidden... buy ORPHOS and unveil beauty!

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

LITTLE VICES—AND DEVICES.

"THE kind of girl that men forget" is the one who calls them up on the telephone next morning and reminds them of all the foolish promises they made the night before.

A "good line" is the scientific masculine device for saying a whole lot—and promising nothing.

When a man's illusions become threadbare he discards them as lightly as he would a frayed collar; but a woman always attempts to darn hers up and goes through life with patches on her soul.

One of the things for which a modern woman marries is the comfort of being able to stop hating and to let her hair go back to its natural color.

A man is not beginning to be middle-aged until he prefers a good appetite next morning to a good time the night before.

Any nice-looking Young Thing can make a man WANT to kiss her; but it requires a mistress of diplomacy, art, and irresistible fascination to make him want to kiss her AGAIN, these days.

Solomon was the world's greatest optimist! What other man ever let the hope of finding a Perfect Wife triumph over experience, seven hundred times?

The average woman's greatest disappointment is to marry her ardent admirer and discover afterward that she has tied herself to a life-critic.

To a woman, remorse is a complete bleaching of her soul; to a man, it is merely the act of white-washing his conscience so that it won't shock his finer feelings.

A man of forty who has just been divorced feels like Rip Van Winkle—the world is all brand NEW to him!

Alas, so many husbands and wives appear to love each other just like Southern California and Northern California!

There is something about a heart-crusher's complacent attitude, just after he has sprung his favorite "line," that makes him appear to be taking a bow to the applause.

Many a man has resorted to a printed valentine or said it with flowers, because he didn't know how to "say it" himself—and then been heartily glad of it, six months later.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Another Sign Fails

Sun or shadow, either way.

It means the same on Groundhog Day.

—Old Mother Nature.

As I told you yesterday, Peter Rabbit does not believe in signs. What I mean is that Peter does not believe in foolish signs. Of course, when he sees green leaves breaking in the spring he knows that is a sign summer is not far away. But when he sees Johnny Chuck out in winter he doesn't believe that that is a sign of anything except that Johnny has been restless and has waked up. You know, a great many people call Feb. 2 Groundhog Day. They believe that Johnny Chuck comes out on that day and that if it is bright and sunny so that he sees his shadow he knows that there will be six weeks more of winter and goes back to sleep accordingly. If he does not see his shadow—that is, if the day is cloudy—they believe it is a sign that winter is nearly over.

It happened that Johnny Chuck did come up on Groundhog Day this year and Peter saw him. Peter happened to be over that way and he could hardly believe his eyes when he saw somebody sitting up on Johnny Chuck's doorstep. You should have seen Peter's long heels twinkle as he scampered over there. "Why, Johnny Chuck," he cried, "what under the sun are you doing out this time of year?"

Johnny yawned sleepily. "I woke up and I just thought I'd have a look around and see if it was time to get up," said he. "I see it isn't, so I'll go back to bed. My, this sun feels rather good. It is a long time since I felt any sun."

Now, it happened that it was a warm day. Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was doing his best. He was doing the very best he could for that time of year. Johnny Chuck, sitting up, cast a shadow on the snow.

"To you see it?" cried Peter. "Do you see it, Johnny Chuck?"

"To I see what?" demanded Johnny crossly.

"Your shadow," cried Peter. "I suppose that means that we are going to have a lot of winter yet, and that you'll go back to sleep until it is all over."

"Is that so?" retorted Johnny. "You seem to know a lot about it. You know a lot more than I do. We may be going to have a lot more winter, or winter may be all over, so far as I know. It doesn't make any difference to me. I'm going back to bed again and I hope I'll be able to sleep until winter is over, whether it is a long time or a short time."

"You mean you won't come out again until winter is almost over, or quite over?" asked Peter.

"Not if I can help myself," answered Johnny. And with a last look around, he disappeared down inside his hole.

"He saw his shadow," muttered Peter. "He saw his shadow, and that means that we've got a lot of winter ahead of us yet, and we won't see Johnny Chuck again until winter is over." You see, at that time Peter did believe in some signs.

It was just a week later that Peter happened along that way. Once again he was surprised, very much surprised. There sat Johnny Chuck on his doorstep, just as he had been sitting the week before on Groundhog Day. "What are you doing up here?" cried Peter Rabbit.

"Looking around and minding my own business," retorted Johnny. "But you have no business to be," cried Peter. "I mean, you have no business to be up here looking around. You saw the shadow the other day and you should be down inside your house asleep now."

"High!" retorted Johnny. "I guess I shall do just as I feel like doing. I was awake and I wanted to have a look around, and here I am. I have an idea that we are going to have an early spring, but I don't know anything about it and I'm not going to worry about it. I don't believe in signs, anyway."

"Neither do I," replied Peter. (Copyright, 1927.)

NEW YORK.—The saxophone of the orchestra is sure to be in tune with the costumes this spring, for blues are going to be a feature of both. The shades range from navy to the most delicate tint shown in street peas. The printed silks, as usual, seem likely to follow the tints and designs of flowers that bloom in the spring, but there is a tendency to space the designs more widely on the fabric than in the past.

NEW YORK.—It is still a bit early for straw headgear in the north but milliners are edging us close toward it as they can. One of the newest designs is of the helmet shape, and made a combination of crocheted straw and satin. Chiffon felt is another smart material as is grosgrain ribbon. The latter are frequently trimmed with snake skin.

Bran an Interesting and Healthful Addition to the Menu.

THE use of bran, instead of being a dire duty and a health prescription, may add variety to the meals. Or, if it is necessary to disguise it, there are many attractive and palatable dishes in which the most fastidious palate could scarcely discover the use of bran.

It may find a place as a cereal, when it may be heated, mixed with melted butter and a few ground nuts and served with bananas, baked apple or tart canned fruit, or it may be sprinkled over other cereal, hot or cold. It may appear as the main luncheon dish in the salad, in all kinds of bread, in countless desserts and as a confection.

Bran Meat Cakes Garnished with Bacon.

One cup thick, cold cereal, 1½ cups cold, chopped meat, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon onion juice, salt and pepper. Combine all ingredients and shape the mixture in small rolls or cakes. Roll the cakes in bran and let them stand for a few minutes to dry slightly. Then saute them in bacon fat, drippings or butter, and garnish with crisp bacon.

Macaroons Made with Bran.

Two egg whites beaten stiff, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup bran, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup coconut, 1½ teaspoon salt.

Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and beat again. Add other ingredients in the order given. Drop by small spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Avoid crowding and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 15 minutes. Remove from the pan at once as they have a tendency to stick while cooling.

Apple Scallop with Bran.

Thinly slice tart apples, 1½ teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup brown sugar, 1½ teaspoon nutmeg, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1½ cups bran, ½ cup hot water.

Wash, core and slice the apples thin, a layer of them in a buttered baking dish. Mix bran, butter, sugar, nutmeg and salt. Cover the apples with one-half the bran mixture, add remainder of apples and cover them with the bran mixture. Add water and bake covered in a moderate oven, 350 to 375 degrees F., one hour. Serve the scallop with a soft custard or a tart fruit sauce as apricot, plum, pineapple.

Fresh with the Tang of the Sea!

FRESH ocean fish, ready to cook. Quick, easy, delicious. Pulled from the sea, speeded to the pier, cleared of heads, tails, fins, scales, backbones and waste. Then these savory haddock filets are wrapped in vegetable parchment, cooled and rushed to your dealer. Always fresh—never frozen. You get only clear fish meat, at a cost no greater than if you cleaned the fish yourself. Try this tempting deep-sea dinner today. Bay State Fishing Co., 30 Fish Pier, Boston, Mass.

HER SPECIAL "KNACK" OF MIXING

—a recipe now used by more women than any other in history

What woman can resist trying a new recipe that holds promise of better results? Some new flavor—new moments of pleasure for her family? American women are noted throughout the world for their constant interest in new recipes. And today one old-time recipe has won more users than any other ever recorded.

Years ago no other cook could match the flavor of those light, fragrant pancakes which Aunt Jemima served her master and his guests. She refused to reveal to a soul her "knack" of mixing ingredients. No one on the other plantations could learn her secret.

Today her own recipe—her own ingredients just as she proportioned them—are used by millions of women. They come ready-mixed in Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour. Only in this way is it possible to have tender golden-brown pancakes with that special flavor which won fame—on the plantations long ago.

Watch your husband's eyes light up when he first tastes Aunt Jemima's cakes. Plan now to test her recipe—ready-mixed. Your grocer has Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour and her Prepared Buckwheat Flour.

Coupons for valuable premiums come in every Aunt Jemima package.

The Man on the Sandbox

FAIR ENOUGH!

CAR tokens now retail at eight. Or two for fifteen cents. A bargain the officials state. Considering expense. And after all we're thankful that The kids still ride for three cents flat.

But those who pay the extra jack
Will sure be overjoyed
To hear they get their penny back,
In case the raise is void.
Although they'll give us a receipt,
We'd much prefer to have a seat.

At that, they may be penny wise,
And see their profits fade;
It wouldn't cause us much surprise

If busses got the trade,
For two cents more a guy can ride
And always have a seat beside.

Shorts Not Out of the Wood
Bear traders had acted on the theory that the stock, based on its buying power, was selling at a low price and they could buy it at a cheaper price and deliver the stock as purchased to brokers for whom they had borrowed stock. The delivery against short sales failed to reckon, however, with the withdrawal of large blocks of stock from the market as a result of the recent changes in conditions and the inability to convert positions into cash and preferred stock.
